England's Au Revoir To King And Queen

SAILING AWAY TO MAKE HISTORY

Five-Mile Crowd Lines The Shore

FROM OUR OWN REPORTER

STANDING A LITTLE APART ON THE BRIDGE OF THE EMPRESS OF AUSTRALIA, AMIDST THE HOOTING OF SHIP'S SIRENS, THE ROAR OF GUNS AND THE CHEERS OF THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE, THE KING AND QUEEN SAILED AWAY FROM PORTSMOUTH YESTERDAY AFTERNOON TO MAKE HISTORY.

It was the first time that a Sovereign of the British Empire had set out, with his Queen, on a visit to one of his Dominions—it was the first time, too, that a British monarch and his Queen had gone forth to visit the great U.S. Republic.

The King stood at the salute. The Queen waved her white-gloved hand.

And on the railway jetty, just a little forlorn, were Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret. They seemed so overcome at the parting that they forgot to wave their handkerchiefs. Each stood, hands clasped, gazing at the ship as the tug Romsey slowly pulled her away.

CRUISER ESCORT

Beside them, waving good-bye, stood Queen Mary, the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester and the Duke and Duchess of Kent.

As the liner moved further off the King waved, too. Then, flying over the dockyard in perfect formation, came nine planes to escort her down Channel.

All the way along the shore, for five miles and more, crowds were massed, cheering as the ship passed slowly by.

At Spithead the cruisers Glasgow and Southampton and the battle cruiser Repulse—in which the King and Queen were originally to have made the voyage to Canada—joined the liner to act as escorts. The Repulse was only going down Channel, but the cruisers were accompanying the Empress of Australia all the way across the Atlantic.

And, back at Portsmouth, as the liner passed out of sight Queen Mary took the Princesses by the hand and, followed by the other members of the Royal Family, re-entered the Royal train and returned to London.

LONDON'S FAREWELL

A wisp of handkerchief fluttering from the open doorway of the Royal coach was the last glimpse London had of the King and Queen.

The Queen, radiant in pale lavender, with the King at her side, stood smiling at the door, waving a last farewell, until their train had slid from under the vaulted roof of flag and flower-decked Waterloo station into the bright sunshine.

The Princesses, their noses glued flatly to the coach window, smiled at the little knot of Cabinet Ministers and other distinguished guests left behind on the red-carpeted platform.

The cheers died, the last shrill whistle faded into silence, the train gathered speed, and then they were gone.

The scene at Waterloo was memorable. It was one of the most intimate and delightful Royal family gatherings London has seen.

For me, among all the glittering uniforms, top-hatted statesmen and fashionably-dressed women, the two Princesses stole the whole show in the ten minutes of final farewells before the train left.

In coats and tam-o'-shanters they made immediately for their grandmother when they jumped from the landau in which they and their parents had driven from the palace, through crowds massed eight and ten deep all along the route.

NOT SO SHY NOW

Greeting her with kisses and delighted smiles, they completed their round of handshakes—kisses, of course, for their aunts and uncles—with utter self-possession.

Princess Elizabeth began shepherding her little sister through this rather complicated business of greeting everyone.

But Princess Margaret is growing up, and she soon proved that she is no longer so shy by tugging violently at her sister's coat tail when she accidentally missed one hand extended to her.

Amid all the elaborate preparations that preceded the departure of the Royal train, the carrying aboard of expensive flowers and lovely bouquets to decorate the coach in which they lunched, a fat bundle of gaily coloured comics—just like millions of kiddies buy every Saturday—arrived for the two Princesses to read in the train.

Germans Who Don't

Want Hitler

"WE WANT TO REMAIN FREE"

Cape Town, Saturday.

ABSOLUTE AND COMPLETE OPPOSITION TO HITLER AND THE NAZIS IS EXPRESSED IN A STATEMENT ISSUED TO-DAY BY THE GERMAN AFRICAN PARTY IN SOUTH-WEST AFRICA, THE FORMER GERMAN COLONY.

This party was recently formed, and its membership is mainly composed of naturalised German ex-Service men.

It completely rejects the Nazi philosophy.

The statement says that the party views with astonishment the short-sighted attitude of a section of the population of South-West and South Africa towards the situation generally in Africa and Europe.

WOULD NOT FIGHT

It asks South Africans to remember the Germany of a previous age where right and justice were the supreme law, and adds:

"Be sure we would not fight for the Hitler system. Hitler not only wants South-West Africa."

The statement goes on to appeal to South Africans to maintain their freedom.

"The ideal of the German African Part, is to be free and remain free," the statement concludes.—B.U.P.

Aged 78, She Wants To Play Lady Godiva

FROM OUR OWN

Ipswich, Saturday.

WHEN Mrs. Agnes Foster, of Felaw-st., Ipswich, walks into the garden to dry her hair, the neighbours all come to the windows to admire.

Mrs. Foster is seventy-eight years old, yet her silky hair, not far short of 5 ft. long, is still richly chestnut, full of glistening lights, just as it was when she was a schoolgirl.

She has not a grey hair, and to the dozens of girls who call at her home every week to learn her secret she says:

"Never cut your hair except when the moon is full."

Hairdressers, who declare that she is the finest head of hair in the country, have overwhelmed Mrs. Foster with offers of engagements, but she has rejected them all.

Her husband, a sixty-eight-years-old retired engine-driver, is her hairdresser.

"I help her to comb and plait it every morning," he told me. "We can just manage it in three-quarters of an hour if we hurry. The last time I measured it it was 56 in."

"When Agnes lets her hair down, all you can see of her is her feet."

Now Mrs. Foster has one ambition.

Danzig: The Pope

May Mediate

Powers Seeking Peace

From Our Diplomatic Correspondent

POWER POLITICS HAVE RETIRED INTO THE BACKGROUND IN EUROPEAN AFFAIRS. NORMAL METHODS OF DIPLOMACY, AIDED BY THE INTERVENTION OF THE POPE, ARE BEING USED THIS WEEK-END TO SEEK A PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT OF THE DANZIG PROBLEM.

Most important of these are:

Pope Sees

Diplomats

Semi-official quarters in Vatican City revealed yesterday that Pope Pius is working actively in the cause of peace.

The surprise visit on Friday of Monsignor Orsenigo, the Papal Nuncio in Berlin, to Herr Hitler, is stated in these quarters to be definitely connected with the European crisis.

After spending an hour at Berchtesgaden, M. Orsenigo was flown back to Berlin in a Government plane.

The Pope will make an important broadcast to the National Eucharistic Congress at Algiers at noon to-day.

Duce Does Not

Want War

On the orders of Signor Mussolini, who is trying to dissuade Hitler from going to war over Danzig, Count Ciano, the Italian Foreign Minister, went to Milan to meet Herr von Ribbentrop, and urge him not to take any dangerous steps. They talked for two and a half hours, and will meet again this morning for the drafting of a communiqué.

These discussions overshadow all other news in the German Press. The "Frankfurter Zeitung" says:

"Those who inherited Danzig from their forbears would defend it with their blood; but we shall see that this will not be necessary. When Herr von Ribbentrop concludes his talks about the next step to thwart the encirclement policy a picture will present itself which is different from that which part of the world wants to see."

Danzig May Proclaim

For the Reich

Paris, Saturday. The possibility of the Free City of Danzig proclaiming through the Senate the annexation of the City to the German Reich is mentioned in despatches to French newspapers from Berlin.

Correspondents of these newspapers quote German political circles as saying that affairs will follow their course according to a plan arranged by Germany.

UNDER 21's WHO ESCAPE CONSCRIPTION

MEN under twenty-one who unsuccessfully applied to join the Territorial Army before April 27 are to be exempt from conscription.

The War Office announced yesterday that instructions have been issued to meet the cases of such men who, owing to lack of vacancies or other causes, could not, at that time, be enrolled and were given instead a certificate that they had volunteered.

Commanding officers of units issuing the certificates have been ordered to inform these men that they must report within 14 days with a view to the completion of their enrolment in the Territorial Army.

Tragedy Of

Actress's Twins

ONE BORN WHEN MOTHER HAD DIED

WHEN THE SECOND CHILD OF TWINS BORN TO MRS. AILEEN SCOTT (AILEEN MARSON, THE FILM AND STAGE ACTRESS) FIRST SAW THE LIGHT, THE MOTHER, WHO WAS ONLY TWENTY-SIX, HAD BEEN DEAD FOR FOUR MINUTES.

This was a statement made at the inquest at Kilburn, yesterday, on Mrs. Scott, following her death in a nursing-home on the previous day.

Dr. John Reid said Mrs. Scott was admitted to the nursing home on April 6. Last Thursday he called in two consultants, and it was advised that an operation was necessary. This was performed by Mr. Lane-Roberts, aided by the witness.

Immediately the first child of twins was born the mother showed signs of heart failure, collapsed and died. The second child was born about four minutes later.

BOTH CHILDREN WELL

The children—a boy and a girl—were wonderfully strong and were doing well.

"It was the sort of case," remarked the coroner (Dr. J. S. Crone), "that in a whole lifetime one might never see again."

"I hope not," replied Dr. Reid, who added that everything possible was done, including the application of oxygen, heart massage and injection.

Returning a verdict of death from heart failure, the coroner extended his sympathy to the husband and said, "I hope the children born in such unhappy circumstances will live to be a credit to you."

After the last farewells, the young Princesses return to London, and you can see how they feel about the temporary absence of their parents.

NIGHT VIGIL WITH AIRMAN

Montrose, Saturday.

FOLLOWING AN all-night search by R.A.F. men, police and civilians, totalling 200, Acting-Pilot Officer J. D. Lenahan, whose machine crashed on a lonely mountain-side at Clochnaben, Kincairdineshire, was rescued to-day. He had been injured and was pinned down amid the wreckage of his aeroplane.

Searchers had struggled through bog and heather in swirling mists after Acting-Flying Officer R. E. Atkinson, the other occupant of the machine, had staggered, half-fainting, to the door of a lonely farm. Acting-Pilot Officer Lenahan was eventually found by Mr. William Watt, a gamekeeper who, during the search, had himself been reported missing. Mr. Watt released the airman, made him as comfortable as possible, and stayed with him throughout last night.

COMPULSORY A.R.P. IN ALL FRENCH SCHOOLS

Paris, Saturday.

Instruction in A.R.P. is made compulsory in all French schools and universities under a decree submitted to President Laval for his signature when the Council of Ministers met this morning.

Another decree gives the Minister of Interior extended powers of control over the circulation, distribution and sale of foreign printed matter or publications coming from abroad.

A third decree concerns the production of minerals useful for national defence. It provides a credit of between £83,000 and £110,000 for putting in a condition of immediate readiness a number of factories, mines and shafts, whose insufficient output makes their use in normal times unprofitable.—Reuter.

Her Mother Was Jewish

"MUSTERING ANGEL" TO BE EXILED

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT

Paris, Saturday.

IN THE LATEST LIST OF FORCED EXILES FROM AUSTRIA IS THE NAME OF MISS ELIZABETH MELLOR, DAUGHTER OF AN ENGLISHMAN WHO HELD AN HONOURED POSITION AT VIENNA UNIVERSITY FOR MANY YEARS BEFORE HIS DEATH.

When the Great War came, Miss Mellor and her father were naturally interned, but, because of his eminent service to science, the father was given more freedom than the average internee, and his daughter was allowed to volunteer for service with a Red Cross unit.

She served right through the war, though her health was far from robust; and the Austrian authorities praised her for her devotion to duty. She was decorated by the Austrian Government.

The war over, she settled in Vienna and continued research work that had begun by her father.

Now, at the age of seventy, she is obliged to find a new home, leaving her savings and the small annuity that came to her under her father's will.

DENOUCED BY "INFORMER"
Her sin is the heinous one of being born of a Jewish mother. She was the victim of a denunciation of a "common informer," in this case a fellow researcher who was jealous of her success. She was given five days in which to leave the country, and the sum she was allowed to take with her was insufficient to pay her fare to England.

In any case she and her father were so long out of England that they must have almost no friends there now, though the father's name is probably known to some scientists who have read his contributions to scientific journals.

GIRL THEY SACKED FOR "CONSCIENCE"

MR. R. W. Sorensen (Lab., Leyton, E. W.) will ask the Minister of Labour on Thursday:

"Whether he is aware that Miss Elsie Page was dismissed by her employers recently because she refused to undertake A.R.P. practice;

"That this girl's father died in a military hospital during the last war, and

"That this fact influenced her conscientious convictions respecting war and air-raid precautions; also

"Whether he will confer with the Lord Privy Seal with a view to making it clear to employers that, however unjustifiable such refusal may appear, no action should be taken to penalise those who refuse on conscientious grounds?"

It was announced yesterday that the Executive Committee of the No Conscription League has decided to set up youth advisory committees whose function will be to give advice to young people who intend to resist conscription on conscientious grounds.

UNDERWRITER'S FORTUNE

Mr. Arnold Sanders Harrison, Epsom, Surrey, a member of Lloyd's, left an annuity of £100 to Elizabeth McMullan "in recognition of her great kindness and attention to me and my late wife." His total fortune was £29,345.

Britain's Youngest Fireman

Young Robin Frid, aged three and a half years, who has been trained in a fireman's duties by his father, a member of the Dagenham Brigade, makes himself heard during a practice turn-out.

Stepney Boy's Tragedy

"Lost" Jockey Dead On Railway

Epsom, Saturday.

THEY WAITED IN VAIN FOR EDDIE HEATHORN, BRILLIANT TWENTY-YEARS-OLD APPRENTICE JOCKEY, AT KEMPTON PARK YESTERDAY, WHEN HE WAS TO HAVE RIDDEN WORK WONDERS IN THE MAY AUCTION PLATE.

Trainer Harry Hedges made frantic inquiries while the horse was being walked round the paddock prior to the race, but a substitute jockey had to be provided.

Later, Eddie was found dead on the railway line at Wimbledon. Mr. Hedges told "The People" that Heathorn was a promising rider and had ridden two winners.

NO LOVE AFFAIRS

Passionately fond of horses, Heathorn joined Mr. Hedges' stable three years ago, when he walked from his home in Maroon-st., Stepney, to Epsom, in the hope of finding a job.

In becoming a jockey he gave up the chance of a business career, for he had been a student at a business training college in London.

He was very enthusiastic about his job and friends can offer no explanation for the tragedy. He had no financial difficulties and no love affairs. Earlier in the day he was at work as usual on Epsom Downs.

"GHOSTS" THAT WERE ONLY BRICKS

From Our Own Correspondent

Birmingham, Saturday.
"GHOSTS" which proved to be a couple of bricks that knocked a man unconscious figured in a case at the police court here to-day.

William Perry, lodging in Varnard, Edgbaston, was charged with being drunk and disorderly and with assaulting Joseph Murphy, also lodging in Varnard.

Murphy told the Bench that Perry, after claiming to be a Spiritualist, offered to produce a ghost in the passage outside the house.

"He crouched on top of a wall," said Murphy, "and shouted 'Ghost, come on.'"

"Then," added Murphy, "two bricks hit me on the head and face. Those were the 'ghosts.'"

The landlady of the house said that Perry had offered to produce a ghost "that would make the house shake."

Perry was sentenced to two months' imprisonment for the assault and one month for being drunk and disorderly, the sentences to run concurrently.

MISSING LUXURY

YACHT TURNS UP

The luxury yacht Jeanry, about which there was some anxiety when it did not arrive at Oslo two days ago, has now arrived there safely.

Throughout Friday the whereabouts of the yacht, on which were the owner, Mr. Henry S. Vom Berge and a British crew of six, was a mystery.

Mrs. Vom Berge, who had gone to Oslo by steamer, telegraphed to Mr. Waveney Brooke, of Lowestoft, yesterday, stating that the yacht had arrived and the crew were safe.

£625 Win At Thirteenth Attempt!

READER'S CROSSWORD TIP

£1,250 PRIZE NOW AWAITS YOU

"WHAT YOU NEED IS A TONIC," SAID THE DOCTOR, SENDING MR. THOMAS ADAMS AWAY FOR A WEEK'S SICK LEAVE BY THE SEA. YESTERDAY, THE DAY OF HIS RETURN, MR. ADAMS GOT HIS TONIC—£625.

Returning to No. 1, Lodge-villas, Woodford Green, he learned that he had won a half-share of the £1,250 prize offered in connection with "The People's" Crossword Competition No. 150.

"This is better than all the bottles of medicine and all the sea air in the world," he chuckled when he heard the news. "Now I feel better than I've been for months."

Mr. Adams has scored this success at his thirteenth attempt. "This shows that even a comparative beginner can win," he commented.

"It's just a matter of thinking carefully and studying the 'Competitor's World,' the little booklet you issue to help Crossword enthusiasts."

Mr. Adams, who is an A.R.P. warden, asked anxiously: "This doesn't prevent my winning another prize, does it?"

When told that it did not, he said: "That's fine. I'm going to keep on with my favourite hobby and make some more big money."

To those who are out for the big prize, Mr. Adams offers this advice: "Keep trying. Study the clues carefully, and some day, success will be yours."

The other reader who receives £625 is Mrs. A. Pearce, of 26, Arran-rd., Crookes, Sheffield.

"What a nice nest-egg this will be," she exclaimed when she heard of her success.

"This shows what can be done by the will to win," she added.

KEPT ON TRYING

"Week after week I have entered 'The People's' Competition, and, although my only previous win was a sum of twelve shillings, I determined to keep on trying."

"The People's' Crossword is my one-night-a-week hobby," she added. "I have tried many other competitions, but I find this the most interesting and the best test of skill."

"Now I shan't be satisfied until I win the big prize outright."

That's the spirit, Mrs. Pearce! You have our best wishes, as do all the other readers in every part of the country who regularly enter our fair-for-all Crossword Competition.

This week the first prize is especially attractive.

Our must-be-on offer comprises a fully-furnished bungalow on any part of the estate that you select, complete with a garage, car, and £750. The alternative first prize is a sum of £1,250.

In addition to the magnificent first prizes, there are unlimited awards for first and second runners-up.

First runners-up each receive one of the following sixteen prizes:—

Tea service (40 pieces); half dinner service (26 pieces); cut-glass crystal set; rug; chair; 4 dining-room chairs; combined fire-screen, coffee and card table; canteen of cutlery; camera and case; rug; mantel clock; tennis racket; pair of mohair rugs; child's tricycle; raincoat; bed-linen set; A.R.P. emergency ration box; six pairs of silk stockings.

You will notice that these splendid prizes have been chosen for their usefulness.

Now think how much more useful would be the magnificent first prize, then, like Mrs. Pearce, make "The People's" Crossword your one-night-a-week hobby.

Poland Awaits Hitler's Next Danzig Move

THEIR MAJESTIES DURING THEIR FAREWELL DRIVE THROUGH LONDON YESTERDAY.

Royal Liner Is Full Of Flowers

MASSSES OF BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS IN HER SUITE OF BEDROOM, BATHROOM, SUN-PARLOUR AND WRITING-ROOM GREETED THE QUEEN WHEN SHE WENT ABOARD THE LINER EMPRESS OF AUSTRALIA TO SAIL FOR CANADA YESTERDAY.

This was the final touch of beauty to the complete arrangements made at top-speed aboard the liner for the comfort of the King and Queen.

The King's suite was also ready down to the last detail of comfort, with sharpened pencils and a moistening pad for envelopes on his desk, a special plug fitted for his electric razor and a radio set installed. By the wireless was a complete list of all Empire short-wave broadcasts.

COMFORT FIRST

In both suites the predominating colour is cream and dove-grey, and both have been furnished with an eye to comfort rather than luxury. Pink carnations provided the colour motif in the brown-panelled Royal dining-room, which was formerly the liner's smoking-room.

Here the King and Queen dined last night (says B.U.P.) with Mr. Donovan, a Southampton man, who formerly lived in Liverpool, as head waiter, and a Wimbledon man, Mr. Winnill, assisting him.

This morning there will be divine service in the main dining-room of the ship.

A good selection of films has been placed aboard the liner for the voyage, including two Gordon Harker pictures, "The Return of the Frog" and "Lightning Conductor," Lupino Lane in "Lambeth Walk," Sonnie Hale in "The Gaunt Stranger."

There are also Irene Dunne in "Love Affair," "The Life of Emile Zola," "Tovarich," "Topper" and "My Man Godfrey," a number of travel pictures, several Walt Disney films, two "March of Time" pictures, and four news-reels.

Nazi Anger At Alleged Attacks On Germans

WHILST NO OFFICIAL HINT HAS YET BEEN GIVEN IN GERMANY REGARDING HERR HITLER'S NEXT MOVE IN THE DISPUTE WITH POLAND ABOUT DANZIG AND THE POLISH CORRIDOR, THE GERMAN NEWSPAPERS SUGGEST THAT THERE IS AN INCREASE IN THE TENSION BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES.

Stories are being published alleging Polish attacks on Germans. These are strongly reminiscent of the campaign in the German Press last autumn, just before the Czech crisis.

Typical of the latest reports are those in the "12-uhr Blatt." Most of the front page is devoted to reports of atrocities which the Poles are said to have committed against the German minority, particularly in the Corridor district.

Most of the Germans in this district are said to have fled for safety.

It is reported that a figure representing Hitler hanging from a gallows was carried through the streets of Warsaw. On the other hand, the Polish Press says it is difficult to find any anti-German incidents beyond the breaking of a window at a German bookshop in Posen.

"LIES!" CRY NAZIS

The recent speech by Colonel Beck, Polish Foreign Minister, replying to Germany's denunciation of the German-Polish Pact of 1934, and firmly declaring Poland's intention to resist any aggression, has also made the Nazi newspapers angry.

Commentators devote much space to what they describe as the "lies" of Colonel Beck.

The "Diplomatische Korrespondenz" refers to "the admission of Poland to the British front of encirclement," and adds that "a communication with East Prussia across the Corridor is absolutely essential to Germany."

"Danzig," it continues, "ardently desires its reunion with the Reich."

The "Deutsche Allgemeine" says that "Poland has missed a great chance. The British did not understand this chance, offered for the first time by a German Government, because they, in the intoxication of their encirclement policy, forgot their former sensible attitude to the questions of Danzig and the Corridor."

The "Berliner Boersen Zeitung" declares "Beck lies to whitewash himself for entering the British encirclement front."

The "Morgenpost" says that "No body in Germany has thought of cutting Poland off from the Baltic."

"NEIGHBOURLINESS"

The Polish Government, it is officially declared, has no intention of taking the initiative in negotiations with Germany.

It is considered in Warsaw that Germany must reply to the Polish Note declaring Poland's readiness to receive suggestions for agreements to revise relations on a basis of good neighbourliness.

ITALIAN newspapers express satisfaction that Colonel Beck's recent speech "leaves the door open to negotiations."

During the Polish-German dispute the Italian Press has generally backed up Germany, but has not assumed a strong tone, as during the Czech crisis, when it attacked the Czechs.

In FRANCE, the attitude of Poland is warmly approved.

"Le Petit Parisien" says: "Colonel Beck has taken for his own use the language and phraseology of the dictators. He also talked of 'honour,' for Germany does not have a monopoly of it."

But Polish honour, like that of the Western Powers, is one which does not satisfy itself to the detriment of others."

The Polish standpoint is also endorsed by the Press of RUMANIA and LITHUANIA among other European countries.

LONDON CROWDS 10 DEEP

Lord Harewood and the Princess Royal had been the first to arrive at the flower-banked section of the platform where the other members of the Royal family were to wait to greet the King and Queen.

Then came the Duke and Duchess of Kent, he in naval uniform, she in navy blue and white with an immense, double-tailed silver fox.

Then came the Duke of Gloucester in Guards' uniform, and the Duchess in blue with a bronze straw hat perched on her curls.

Queen Mary—you could hear the roar of cheering that greeted her outside the station more plainly than for anyone else—was in powder blue.

Mr. Chamberlain spent a long time in conversation with Lord Harewood and Mr. Kennedy, the American Ambassador.

The Duchesses of Kent and Gloucester chatted together while their husbands strolled to and fro greeting Lord Halifax, Sir Samuel Hoare, Sir Thomas Inskip, and others.

CHEERING WILDLY

We could hear the massed thousands outside Waterloo cheering wildly many minutes before the royal landau, drawn by four Windsor greys, drove up alongside the platform.

The Guard of Honour, made up of members of the London Association of Canadian ex-Servicemen, Air Force Cadets and the Kingston Unit of the Navy League Sea Cadet Corps, came to attention.

And then the round of last farewells began. The King went straight to his mother and, doffing his naval cap, kissed her warmly on both cheeks.

He spoke to each member of the Cabinet present, but his longest conversation was with Mr. Chamberlain.

Then for a few moments everyone stood around in one of those awkward "waiting-for-the-train-to-go" pauses.

Queen Mary settled it by signalling briskly to the Princesses with her umbrella and stepping aboard the train. Other members of the party followed.

The King and Queen were the last to step on to the train. They did not go into the coach but remained standing side by side in the open doorway smiling and waving adieu.

PLANS CHANGED

The King and Queen had another tremendous welcome at Portsmouth where a crowd of 20,000 cheered them as, between lines of Royal Marines, they walked from the station to the Guildhall Square.

After the civic reception they drove through the flag-decked, troop-lined streets to the docks.

To give the King and Queen a little longer time with their children, the original plans had been changed and the Princesses drove with their parents through Portsmouth instead of travelling to the docks in the royal train with Queen Mary and other members of the Royal Family.

"Lucky Thirteen" Baffle Nazis' Secret Police

Risk Lives To Bring Out Refugees' Cash

EXCLUSIVE TO "THE PEOPLE"

THIRTEEN ADVENTURE-LOVING MEN, WITH THEIR HEADQUARTERS IN LONDON, ARE RISKING JAIL, AND EVEN DEATH, TO SMUGGLE REFUGEES' MONEY AND VALUABLES OUT OF GERMANY.

The Gestapo, the Nazis' dreaded secret police, would pay almost any price for a clue to their identity.

It was six months ago that the Lucky Thirteen formed themselves into a band.

Moved by the plight of Jews and other refugees, who had fled penniless from their homes in Germany, they determined to aid them.

Since then these modern Pimpernels have made scores of trips into Germany. Each time they have eluded the frontier guards and brought back money and jewellery.

NAMES KEPT

Their methods are kept as secret as their names, for disclosure of either would throw them into the clutches of the Gestapo.

The Nazis have spent thousands of pounds in attempts to discover their identity.

Refugees have been offered bribes. Secret German agents in this country have even promised that if they gave the desired information they would be allowed to return to Germany and take away their own property.

But the identity of the Lucky Thirteen has never been betrayed.

Almost daily they slip into Germany to carry on their work.

They do it for the thrill of outwitting the Nazis. Each of the Thirteen is a man of good position, with a passion for justice and adventure.

CLUES FAIL

The Gestapo has followed up many clues and has laid many traps, but always the information has been false or the quarry too clever.

Now the German Government has declared that German subjects who smuggle out refugees' hoards will be accused of high treason, which carries the death penalty.

Children's Accidents

"PEOPLE" CHEQUES For PARENTS

THE toll of children's accidents always tends to increase during the longer days. There could be no more eloquent evidence of this than that last week alone, "The People" under the children's accidents section of its Free Family Insurance, despatched no fewer than 121 cheques to parents in respect of injuries to their children while at play.

Altogether during the past week no less than £265 was distributed to registered readers or their dependents.

Fatal Accident payments were:—"PRIVATE ROAD CONVEYANCE" £100.—Mr. H. J. Parsons, 12, Wreaking-pl., Carbrook, Sheffield, was a passenger in car which came into collision with taxi.

"FATAL STREET ACCIDENTS" Mr. G. Holroyd, 18, Westbourne-cres., Pontefract, knocked down by car.

"FATAL ACCIDENTS AT WORK" Under this heading £210 has been distributed among the dependents of the following readers:—

Mr. R. Stokes, 91, High-st., Gloucester; Mr. J. Marsh, 61, Summer-lane, Lower Gornal, Dudley; H. E. Hands, 39, Kelday-rd., Hackney Wick; Mr. E. J. Sambells, 13, Durnford-st., Stonehouse, Plymouth; Mr. S. Barry, 2, Hamaze villa, Devonport; Mr. D. C. Dickie, Glenfield, Glasgow-rd., Dumfries.

"The People" is the great pioneer of Sunday newspaper free insurance. One registration covers husband, wife and children (over six and under fifteen), and all benefits are paid in addition to any amounts a registered reader may receive from other sources.

If you have not yet registered, fill in the forms in Page Twenty-three.

Defence Chief's Oratorical Dinners

MR. GARRO JONES, M.P., WANTS DEFENCE MINISTERS TO CURTAIL THEIR "ORATORICAL DINNERS" AND PAY MORE ATTENTION TO THEIR JOBS.

On Tuesday he is to ask the Prime Minister whether he is aware that heavy calls are being made upon the time and energy of Ministers of the Defence Departments in attending public functions of little administrative importance.

He will point out that the Defence Minister, Lord Chatfield, attended public oratorical dinners on three evenings out of four last week.

And he will ask whether the Premier will recommend that all Service Ministers should curtail their public appearances, especially those involving the preparation of speeches, until more propitious times.

Lord Chatfield

Too Many "He-Men"

IT WAS TOUGH ON THIS GUY!

SPECIAL TO "THE PEOPLE"

FIVE HUNDRED "TOUGH GUYS" WITH JUTTING JAWS, RIPPLING MUSCLES AND HAIRY CHESTS HAVE LITERALLY DRIVEN MR. WESLEY RUGGLES, THE AMERICAN FILM PRODUCER, OUT OF LONDON. IT HAPPENED LIKE THIS.

Arriving in England on holiday, Mr. Ruggles announced that he is always on the look-out for talent and that at present there is a shortage of "he-men" in Hollywood.

He even suggested that if he saw a suitable "he-man" in London he might offer him a part in a new film whether or not he had any acting experience.

How Mr. Ruggles came to regret those words during his stay in London!

Britain's "tough guys" grabbed pen and paper, and, by every post the film producer received letters from men who claimed that, compared with them, James Cagney, Edward G. Robinson and Wallace Beery were weaklings.

Blacksmiths, professional strong men, boxers—they all bombarded Mr. Ruggles with pleas to be given a chance of screen fame.

At the London hotel where the producer stayed, they thought of taking on more telephone operators to deal with incoming calls.

From eight in the morning till midnight the "he-men" tried to get into touch with the producer.

They waited for him in the hotel lobby and even button-holed him in the street.

Finally Mr. Ruggles decided that Britain had too many "he-men" for his liking, packed his bags and fled to Paris.

Before he left, he told me laughingly: "I came to London for a rest, but it seems that I stirred up a hornet's nest."

"I'm sorry that I was misunderstood and that five hundred 'he-men' should have wasted their time writing to me."

"My secretary is returning all the photographs they sent me."

"You see, what I meant was that I am keeping my eyes open for a suitable 'he-man', but am not actually seeking one at present."

Wesley Ruggles

HISTORIC BIBLE STOLEN

A manuscript Vulgate Bible, of the fourteenth century, has been stolen from Buckingham Parish Church.

The Bible, which was removed from the font, measures about 10 in. by 6 in. by 5 in., and is covered in a light yellow-white vellum with the title "Biblia" in Old-English lettering.

A spanking breeze, the sting of spray against your face—sunlight and shadow on blue-green summer seas—that's the life!... And what goes so well with it? What will taste so good and brace you up so well—when the hook's down and the long grand day is over? What has in it malt for sustenance, hops for appetite, sugar and yeast for energy?... Questions that have but one answer—where men go down to the sea in ships!

MOTORING NEWS

Unfair To The Small Car Man

By THOMAS H. WISDOM

SCANDAL OF THE INCREASE IN HORSE-POWER TAX IS THAT IT IS NOT, AS PARLIAMENT TERMS IT, A TAX ON "LUXURY MOTORING," FOR THE MAN WHO CAN AFFORD £1,000 OR SO FOR A HIGH-POWERED CAR CAN EASILY PAY AN EXTRA £15 A YEAR.

But eighty per cent. of motorists are the folk who can just afford to run 8 and 10 h.p. cars, and they are certainly not "luxury motorists."

Then there is the increase in motor-cycle tax—most definitely a tax on the working man.

I know the money has got to be found, but this latest imposition is the most unfair tax ever applied.

Leaders of the motor and motor-cycle industry have had some hard things to say about it, but their attitude is "grin and bear it." It must be ours, too, I am afraid.

There was a record turn-out of motorcyclists at the Donington Park track yesterday.

Graham Walker, ex-"T.T."-rider, and now Editor of "Motor Cycling," organised a grand show.

All the "T.T." "cracks" were there; we had a look at some of the "hush-hush" machines and, best of all, we saw the big men of the industry actually riding their own productions.

I joined in, astride my Francis-Barnett "Cruiser," a splendid little machine that is the nearest approach to the business-man's motor-cycle I have yet ridden.

INDUSTRY ABSORBS MORE UNEMPLOYED

BRITAIN'S BETTER TIMES AHEAD

EVEN THE "JITTER-BUGS" SAY SO!

SPECIAL TO "THE PEOPLE"

WITH A FURTHER HUNDRED THOUSAND DROP LIKELY IN THE MONTHLY UNEMPLOYMENT RETURNS TO BE ANNOUNCED THIS WEEK, BRITAIN CAN LOOK FORWARD TO BOOM TIMES AHEAD. AND, IF TRADE CONTINUES TO IMPROVE, THE FIGURES, WHICH NOW STAND AT 1,726,929, MAY FALL TO THE MILLION MARK BEFORE THE END OF THE YEAR.

Even the pessimists, whose "jitter" talk has helped to clog the wheels of industry, agree that better times are likely.

The main reason for the improvement is Britain's "We Must Be Strong" policy, which is giving work to thousands of firms besides those manufacturing guns, planes or tanks.

Shipyards which have lain idle for years are being transformed into scenes of bustling activity following the announcement of Government plans to assist ship-owners.

Proposals for a subsidy and a £10,000,000 loan brought 143 orders for vessels last month, and by the end of the year 1,500,000 tons of merchant shipping will be under construction. Directly and indirectly, tens of thousands will be employed.

PERMANENT JOBS

Men who have not worked for years will temporarily fill the posts of young Militiamen to be called up this summer.

Many of the 150,000 who will thus be found work will be permanently employed, because there will always be a large number of conscripts in training.

Although rearmament is mainly responsible for the astounding industrial changes that are overtaking Britain, the commercial situation is healthier than it has been for months.

Belief in Britain's strength is shown by excellent car sales, especially those of small cars, and an increase in building operations. Housing schemes which were postponed during September are being restarted.

Along the L.N.E. railway lines 200 new factories are now going into full production. The decline in railway traffic is being checked and, apart from armament needs, there is a healthy commercial demand for steel.

Within the next few months the following numbers of employees may be required: 20,000 builders, 15,000 engineers, 20,000 coal miners, and 14,000 transport workers.

Conscription will also give temporary work in the distributive trades to 20,000 men and women. Although the boom foretold by experts will be due to rearmament, it is prophesied that when Britain's forces reach the required strength better times will come to stay.

HOUSE-TO-HOUSE

"COLLECTORS"!

Mrs. Inayama, returning to her home at Mukden, Manchukuo, with her brother after a shopping expedition, was astounded to see two men loading her furniture into a van, which was by then almost full.

When the brother questioned the men, they ran off. He overtook one and marched him to the police station. There the man confessed that for several months he and his confederates had been working a "racket" which had enabled them to steal a large quantity of furniture while householders were out. Reuter.

Queen of Sheba's Descendant

PRINCESS HAS TO WORK THIRTEEN HOURS A DAY

SPECIAL TO "THE PEOPLE"

THE SCENE IS A QUIET ROOM IN THE HOSPITAL FOR SICK CHILDREN, LONDON, WHERE A SMALL BOY IS BEING GIVEN A BLOOD TRANSFUSION.

As the operation proceeds, a dark-skinned nurse, in immaculate white uniform, keeps guard by his cot.

She is Princess Tsahai, twenty-years-old daughter of Haile Selassie, ex-Emperor of Abyssinia, now working 13 hours a day!

To supervise blood transfusions, look after children who have been placed in the "iron lung" or oxygen tent and to help in the operating theatre—these are all part of the routine duties of the direct descendant of the Queen of Sheba.

The Princess, now in the third year of her training as a State-registered children's nurse, is known in the hospital as Nurse Tsahai.

Although her identity is unknown to most of her young patients, some of them learn the secret that they have a "real, live Princess" as a nurse.

"Tell us a story 'bout Abyssinia," they plead. "Can't I fight for you when I grows up?"

"EXCELLENT PROGRESS"

All along she has insisted on being treated like all the other probationers, with whom she is extremely popular.

"Nurse Tsahai is happy at the hospital and is making excellent progress," the matron told me.

"She would be the last to expect any special privileges, and her daily hours, with the usual breaks, are from 6.30 a.m. until 8 p.m."

"She took her preliminary examination last year, and is now studying for her final in October."

Already Nurse Tsahai is planning what she will do after she qualifies. In training as a nurse, she has followed the example of the Princess Royal, who, before her marriage to the Earl of Harewood, was at the Hospital for Sick Children for two years.

Her tragic experience of the Abyssinian War made Princess Tsahai realise the value of nursing. When only sixteen, she became a voluntary worker for the first field ambulance unit of her father's army.

CLAIMS KISSING RECORD

Marshall Blum, of San Francisco State College, claims to have broken the "co-ed" kissing championship by kissing 40 girls in five minutes.

He set up his record at a dance. He worked so fast that he believes he kissed a teacher "by mistake."—Reuter.

You May Not Agree That—

It's Wiser To Snore!

EACH ONE OF US, YOUNG OR OLD, IS IMITATIVE, LIABLE TO BE LED ALONG BY OTHERS. REMEMBER THE TIME, YOU OLDER ONES, WHEN YOU PLAYED MARBLES OR SKIPPING ROPES, BECAUSE BIGGER PLAYMATES DECIDED IT WAS THE PROPER SEASON?

Germans are like that all their lives. They love decisions ready-made. Hence the success of the dictator gang.

Certainly it saves original thinking. One accepts whatever blows along, and so has sufficient time for pictures and pools.

A division of this complex of agreement is our own habit of swallowing yawns wafted from heaven knows where.

Following the Great War, there was the chain-letter story, begun, if you can believe it, by an American officer in Flanders.

You were not to break the sequence, under penalty of bad luck.

By "The Philosopher"

You had to copy and send it to three friends, and, on the third day, a great piece of fortune would come your way.

Suppose you submitted. You bought three postage stamps, saw the promised day pass with nothing doing, and wondered why the charm failed.

ANOTHER LUMP OF NONSENSE BEING GULPED DOWN TO-DAY LIKE A WHITESTABLE IS A RUMOUR ABOUT HITLER'S THROAT.

Your informant tells you he had it from someone friendly with a cousin of the commissionaire at the Berchtesgaden junk-hole.

I myself heard it six months ago. The Fuehrer's larynx was so badly gone he would live only long enough to see the Ides of March.

Those Ides have come and gone. Adolf still goes round, sloping the stiff-arm at forty-five degrees, and making faces at the balcony mike.

BUT THE LATEST TESTIMONY TO CREDULITY IS THE TALE OF THE MOTORIST WHO GAVE A LIFT TO A MYSTERIOUS STRANGER ON A MOORLAND HIGHWAY.

As they drove along, the spooky passenger told the driver he was possessed of prophetic powers, and here was a sample:

"Within an hour you will have a puncture. Within a fortnight a relative of yours will die. Within a year Hitler will be assassinated."

After riding along for a few miles, the prophet got down from the car and vanished into the gloom.

Of course, the puncture dutifully turned up, and the relative got his harp, halo and seat on the cloud corner.

And now our motorist is wondering about Hitler. So another yarn ends. But no one has yet met the motorist. It is always someone who was chatting to someone who knows someone else.

THIS GREAT BIG WORLD KEEPS TURNING, AND WE GO ON ACCEPTING THINGS, SIMPLY BECAUSE WE ARE TOLD BY OTHERS.

If a war breaks out, we shall believe it will be over by Christmas.

Looking for pretty endings is fine up to a point, but the nation which will live happily ever after is one that judges honestly and fearlessly.

I reckon, at this stage, when unsavouriness is as naked as a drawn sword, we should sniff every tale of pleasing implication.

Instead of listening, it is wiser to snore ironically, as Mr. Roosevelt did. He who attends to lies, knowing they are lies, is a fool.

PRINCESS TSAHAI OF ETHIOPIA

ONIONS FOR LONG LIFE!

ROVER, A BROWN COLLIE BELONGING TO MR. CARL MAHONEY, A CHAUFFEUR, OF MONTCLAIR, NEW JERSEY, HAD AN EXTRA RATION OF ONIONS RECENTLY WHEN IT CELEBRATED ITS TWENTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY.

Mr. Mahoney declares that onions have enabled the dog to live so long. He started giving it onions in 1933, and at the same time had a pair of blue glasses made to protect the dog's eyes from the bright sunlight of Montclair.

Edward Lyndoe's Predictions

MORE SURPRISES ON THE WAY!

PLAN WITH THE PLANETS

A QUEER, OVERCAST WEEK THIS, WITH THUNDER ON THE LEFT, BUT I ADVISE YOU NOT TO TAKE IT TOO SERIOUSLY. DUE TO A MISUNDERSTANDING OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S SILENCE REGARDING REPLIES FROM THE DICTATORS TO HIS FAMOUS LETTER, THE BRIGHT LADS WILL BEGIN SOME MORE FLESH-CREEPING TACTICS.

Signs are that Hitler will be on the move and a neighbouring strip of country involved. I am interested, however, in a pronounced indication of a regular body-blow from America right in the middle of the new diversion.

You can be certain that one of the Axis Powers will, in this period, be given at least a large-sized clout commercially. Everything in my charts points to America reaching boiling-point and starting to slam doors with a vengeance. That Japan is a likely victim is clear.

I FIND support, too, for the notion that Germany will be penalised in United States markets, or put to some serious disadvantage. Whatever others may think, I hold to my conviction that U.S.A. will move rapidly now towards cutting off all isolation. One immediate result will be a considerable strengthening of China's resistance in the Far East. Another will be the changes in Italy's attitude predicted here last Sunday.

By next month a totally different atmosphere will be brought about in Eastern European affairs. By then it will be apparent to all that America and Britain intend to carry through a merciless clamping-down in every direction.

Some startling incidents involving Germany, with violence, will be taking place in small countries which one time were menaced. I predict now that the Fuehrer is not going to succeed in reaching the Black Sea, as he is reported to have intended.

QUESTIONS are arising about Russia's intentions. But haven't I said throughout the past four years that a big military alliance between U.S.A., Britain, France and Russia would be brought about?

BRIEF BIRTHDAY INDICATIONS

(Applying to those whose anniversaries occur this week.)

TO-DAY

A HARD year on your pocket. Expenditure increases and there is little likelihood of any corresponding gains to ease the going. In addition, there are indications of some setbacks with occupational interests.

At the same time, there is not the slightest need for panic. Provided you watch your step there is no reason why you should not make headway in spite of the obstacles.

TO-MORROW

This bids fair to be one of the best years you have experienced for a long time. Improvement of status seems almost inevitable, and occupational interests do exceptionally well. Considerable expansion of all your interests.

This is definitely a time to strike out on new lines. It is, in fact, an admirable time for putting into force any new ideas you have been nursing.

TUESDAY

Plenty of interesting developments for you this year, but it will not all be plain sailing. There are signs of considerable interference in your affairs both by people older and younger than yourself, and you may be hard put to wear down the opposition on occasion.

On the credit side of the year there are strong indications of improvement in the whole financial position.

IF YOUR BIRTHDAY IS THIS WEEK you can have a specially compiled Month-by-Month Review of your affairs up to the end of May, 1940 (over 3,500 words!), by applying AT ONCE, together with P.O. for 2/- to cover clerical and postage costs. State name (Mr., Mrs. or Miss), full postal address, date of birth, and send to Edward Lyndoe, c/o "The People," 93, Long Acre, W.C.2.

Most business interests do well, and I should not be surprised to learn also of some gains from rather unusual sources.

WEDNESDAY

For you this promises to be a rather quiet twelvemonth with little which calls for special comment either way. Most of your interests proceed on steady, if rather humdrum, lines, and I do not expect that you will have to contend with much in the way of real difficulty.

Innovations are likely to prove highly successful. In addition, there is every indication of some interesting new contacts leading to important developments in connection with your affections.

THURSDAY

An up and down year, with the balance, on the whole, in your favour. More travel and moving about than usual, but you will have to watch your step right the way through. There are signs of considerable opposition to your plans, particularly where they concern occupational advancement. You simply cannot afford to take risks.

FRIDAY

Most of your interests are due to run smoothly during the coming twelve months, but results will depend upon the degree of energy with which you tackle your plans. Improvement in the general financial position is clearly indicated.

SATURDAY

Most of the year in your year, although extremely irritating, are of a minor order, and provided you exercise care your interests should suffer little serious damage. Well thought-out changes, for instance, can now be effected with every expectation of success.

So long as they are essentially practical, new ventures can be launched, and there is no reason why you should not strike out for yourself on new lines.

Moreover, the U.S.S.R. will shortly be taking a hand in the beating-up of Japan in the Far East. The Japanese outlook is worse than overcast. A swerve round towards friendlier relations with Britain will be the order of the day in Tokyo in a few months' time.

I AM asked about possibilities of a General Election in this country. My views on this have already been reported here. I see signs of a clear understanding on the subject within six or seven weeks from now. A statement will by then have been made in Parliament.

Meanwhile, the vexed question will be conscription. I look to wider applications, with the chief point in industry and predict that what will amount to mobilisation of efforts will be put through by Mr. Burgin, Minister of Supplies. And, incidentally, I do not find much evidence to cover any lengthy tenure of office by him.

A much more powerful personality will be directing affairs later on, Mr. Churchill? Well, let me remind you that when he was regarded everywhere as having faded out, this column alone gave the broad hint that he would be well in the limelight before 1940 arrived.

Events which will lead to Mr. Chamberlain's stiffening this department, as well as others, will be taking place off the totalitarian borders soon. The Duce's attitude towards such countries as Rumania and Greece will be highly circumspect.

OF importance to a great many readers are powerful indications of big gains for their members by the Trade Unions in the period of about eight to ten weeks from now. These will be preceded by strike possibilities, and some awkward moments for the Government—happily disposed of by keen statesmanship on both sides.

About the same time comes rather staggering news from Ireland, where a big disturbance is due. It looks to me as if the main point of the outbreak will be trouble concerning financial arrangements.

Weather conditions are like those in the political arena—overcast. In most parts of the country there will be a bit of a break, and the thermometer will rise to the expectations suggested by preceding days. We are running into a phase of very stormy conditions, especially over the coming week-end.

HOW WE ALL STAND THIS WEEK

(Look for your birth date below to find your section.)

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20

THE week begins none too well with a number of upsets in home life, probably to do with younger people. Once you are over the first two or three days, however, things begin to look up, and you should find this an amazingly helpful week for all your interests. From Tuesday there is a quickening of the pace where £ s. d. is concerned.

APRIL 21 to MAY 20

I advise you to concentrate your more important activities this week exclusively on Thursday. Once it is over you run into a somewhat difficult patch, with the chief strain manifesting itself in your financial interests generally.

MAY 21 to JUNE 20

The beginning of the week is likely to be spoiled by a number of disputes, and I strongly urge you to watch your step with everything for a day or two. It would be most unwise to try to carry out any rearrangements before mid-week at the earliest.

JUNE 21 to JULY 20

The present week-end needs to be taken on quiet lines, with strict avoidance of anything of an unusual nature. It is followed by a couple of dull days which appear to hold up your plans completely. Wednesday is slightly better, and Thursday finds you in full enjoyment of a very favourable spell.

JULY 21 to AUGUST 21

One or two minor difficulties may worry you somewhat over this week-end, but they are quickly dissipated by the very helpful influences which set in on Monday. The beginning of the week is, in fact, a fine time for making rearrangements and forging ahead with your plans generally.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 22

It is not until Thursday that you meet with your first real opportunity for coping with current problems. News received about that time puts an end to a number of difficulties.

SEPTEMBER 23 to OCTOBER 22

The early days of this week appear to suffer badly from a number of heated quarrels, and I would strongly advise you against pushing things to extremes at this stage. Thursday appears to be the only really reliable day of the week for tackling anything of importance.

OCTOBER 23 to NOVEMBER 22

The dull beginning to this week rather belies its favourable conditions. Friction with people round about seems to be the chief cause of difficulty during the early days, but this gives way to a highly progressive atmosphere round about Tuesday.

From that point on you should be able to make fine headway with all your interests. Financial prospects are well above the average.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 20

The early days of the week tend to interfere badly with your plans, both in dealing with financial matters and home affairs. It is not until mid-week that you can count on securing satisfactory results for your efforts. Wednesday, for instance, is a wholly admirable day for tackling anything of importance.

DECEMBER 21 to JANUARY 19

Disputes interfere with progress in your case, too, as the week opens, and I advise against any fresh moves for a day or two. Thursday is the one really helpful day of the seven, and benefits home interests and your personal relationships generally.

JANUARY 20 to FEBRUARY 18

Monday brightens all your interests up after a somewhat dull week-end. The only thing demanding special care is the whole question of rearrangements in home affairs.

SOME risks may be worth while—if you stand to gain. But what can you gain by saving a few pence over the year on the price of your toilet rolls? There's no sense in risking the family's health for that! Make sure that your toilet paper safeguards you and your household from the daily danger. Beware of spongy toilet paper whose use may lead to self-infection. Ask for Izal paper always. Each soft, smooth sheet is thoroughly impregnated with Izal—the germicide hospitals use. No other paper can offer you the same hygienic protection.

TWO-TON TONY GALENTO, the Fighting Tank, and most astounding apparition that ever stepped into the roped arena, won so many watches that he didn't know what to do. So in the end he quit amateur boxing and began a diet of beer and ravioli, as training for his first professional fight. Thus he started on the path for the World's Heavyweight Championship, for which he fights Joe Louis next month.

THERE wasn't a prouder kid in the State of New Jersey the night Tony Galento won his first watch in an amateur tournament. For days afterwards he went around hauling it out of his vest pocket on the slightest provocation and telling people the time quite regardless of whether they wanted to know.

Soon, however, as he began to smash his way through the ranks of the neighborhood's amateur stars, he was collecting watches with monotonous regularity.

Despite his efforts to get rid of them they accumulated in embarrassing quantities. Tony presented them to his father, his uncle and his cousins, but he ran out of relations before his supply of prizes was anything like exhausted.

Finally, as he walked home one evening after being awarded yet another watch, Galento announced his intention of turning pro.

"If I don't stop fighting amateurs I'll have to quit the ice business and open a jeweller's shop," he said in disgust.

"I've got forty watches in a drawer at home, all the family have two each, and I still keep winning them. I think I'd rather collect dollars instead."

Among roly-poly Tony's amateur victims was Al Braddock, brother of the famous James J. Braddock, who later became world champion.

Jimmy, at that time an unknown, was in his brother's corner the night he fought Galento.

Physical Toughness and Courage

He did not get a break himself until some time later, when he acted as last-minute substitute for Al in a New York show.

One more story of Tony's amateur days before we follow him on his hectic and extraordinary adventures as a professional.

It is worth telling because it so well illustrates the courage and physical toughness that has taken him to the top.

It begins on the night he fought Billy Pollack, a young-ster with a terrific punch. He caught Tony a smashing blow in the mouth, tearing open a wide gash in his upper lip, towards the end of the second round.

Galento finished his fight red from shoulders to waist with his own blood, but he won the decision.

He was scheduled for another bout with a tough youngster named Tommy Blake two days later, but Frain and Elmer Flynn, first in his long line of much-suffering managers, tried to persuade him not to keep the engagement.

Flynn warned Tony that another blow on the wound before he had a chance to heal might leave a permanent scar, but even as an amateur he was headstrong and impetuous.

"I'll molder him," he promised. "You can't stop me fighting. If you don't come along I'll go on my own."

Fifteen Stitches Without a Murmur

The fighting iceman paid dearly for his folly. Blake was a rough slugger at his best in a toe-to-toe slam, and in the second round the inevitable happened. He shot a hard left to Galento's face, and the blood spouted fountain-fash from the freshly opened cut.

Tony, loudly protesting that he was fit to fight on, was ordered to his corner and the contest awarded to Blake.

Meanwhile, a doctor who had been at the ringside was examining Galento's injury. He said that it needed immediate stitching and dressing to staunch the terrible flow of blood.

"O.K.," said Tony. "Get on with it doc." And there in his corner, with two thousand spectators waiting in silence, he sat without murmuring while the doctor sewed fifteen stitches into the cut.

There was no anesthetic available, but Galento—still only a youngster, mind you—did not wince or blink an eyelid. When it was over he stood up and waved to the crowd before climbing out of the ring.

He still bears the scar, a sinister line over his lip that adds considerably to the ferocity of his expression when he comes out tossing punches.

A month later Tony had his revenge. Still wild over his first defeat, he then handed Blake his left-hand wallop with such deadly effect that he was out for half an hour!

Just about the time Galento quit the amateurs Laddy Kussy, a Newark promoter, was looking for another easy one to put in with Babe Farmer, an up-and-coming pro, who had run up a string of sixteen straight kayos in the tough competition of New York rings.

Flynn and Frain thought that Farmer was too experienced an opponent for Tony's professional debut. They wanted him to pick something easier, but when Kussy offered the Orange Fat Boy a hundred dollars win, lose or draw, there was no stopping him.

He brushed aside his managers' protests with airy waves of his ham-like hands. He was the same old Tony even in those early days!

"A hundred dollars!" he said. "That's better than a watch, ain't it?"

But he refused to bother about training. He said that carrying ice was enough to keep him fit, and he was working on his delivery round within an hour or two of climbing into the ring against Farmer.

There were titters of amusement as he dropped his dressing-gown and the now-famous Galento waistline ballooned into view.

You couldn't blame the fans. In contrast to the Babe's lean hardness Tony looked rather like an ambling bear barrel.

Since then a generous diet of steaks, spaghetti, ravioli and beer has added inches to Galento's prima-donna proportions, but even in those early days he presented quite an eye!

He claims that to slim would ruin him as a fighter.

Slapping his prominent stomach and draining another stein of beer, he will tell you that he likes a nice comfortable coat of fat on his bones and that he punches hardest when he is allowed to eat, drink and do as he likes.

And his recent record seems to prove him to be right. He may look like a comic throwback to the days when the bare-knuckle boys fought in ankle-length black tights.

He may flounder around the ring on legs like tree stumps and with his paunch drooping over the top of his trunks, but there is nothing funny about the way he hits!

Tony wound up 1937 by slugging out Al Ettore, Lorenzo Pack and Leroy Haines in three successive fights, and since his recovery from a serious attack of pneumonia last summer he has won five bouts in a line—four by knock-outs and the fifth on a technical knock-out.

True, he is as wide open as a barn door and has taken some terrible hammerings from smart boxers who hit him when, where and how they liked; but he has the toughness of those old-timers he so resembles.

Has Never Yet Taken the Count

He had fourteen stitches tacked into the wounds over his eyes the night he fought Neil Clisby, fifteen into eye cuts when he lost to Marty Gallagher—but he was on his legs even in defeat. They have never counted ten over "Two-Ton" Tony yet.

He was hopelessly out-smarted on the night he made his professional debut against Farmer. For three rounds the Babe gave Galento a boxing lesson.

Again and again he jabbed his left glove into Tony's face, while the Fat Boy floundered round the ring like an outside in drunken sailors throwing wild swings that had the ringsiders turning up their coat collars to keep out the draught.

In Galento's corner Flynn and Frain exchanged sorrowful glances.

"What did I tell you," muttered Flynn. "He should have listened to our advice. This guy knows too much for him!"

To their amazement Tony came rolling back on his corner after the third round in high spirits.

"Listen," he said, as he dropped on to his stool. "He thinks I'm a sucker, but I only need to hit him once."

He caught Frain by the arm.

"Get down in the crowd and bet the purse money that I put him away this next round," he whispered. "It's a cinch."

Flynn and Frain looked doubtful. They thought Tony was crazy, but he laughed at their fears.

"Get on down there and bet," he said. "I'll molder him!"

Farmer started the round stabbing away with his long left, but Tony, charging in like a bull elephant, swept him back to the ropes.

Then, as the Babe fought back, the iceman's right glove crashed on to the point of his chin.

It was the first real punch Tony had landed, and it dropped Farmer flat on his face. He was still out after the count, and Tony picked him up and carried him to his corner.

Opponent Twice Knocked Out

As he put him down on his stool Farmer slipped, and his head banged on the canvas. The shock revived him and, evidently under the impression that the fight was still on, he jumped to his feet and swung a wicked right at Tony.

Roaring with rage at this unexpected wallop, Galento promptly hooked his right to Farmer's chin and knocked him out for the second time in one night!

"Jeepers! Did you see what that guy did to me?" he said as he ambled back to his corner. "They ought to pay me twice for fighting a guy like that!"

What a night that was for Tony! He had earned a hundred dollars purse and won three times as much in one lucky bet!

"Can you imagine those other mugs still fighting for wrist-watches!" he grinned.

Unfortunately for Galento, however, his manager left him in his dressing-room after he had been paid off, and he found himself surrounded by a gang of cheap racketeers who claimed part of his winnings.

Untutored in the ways of the professional ring, Tony ruefully paid away the best part of his winnings, innocently swallowing the fantastic stories with which the "boys" supported their claims.

De Ducks For Expenses

He went home still puzzled, wondering whether professional fighting was such a profitable business after all, and when his mother asked him how he liked it he shook his head doubtfully.

"I don't know, Mom," he said slowly. "I like fighting all right, but I don't like this business of de ducks."

"De ducks?" said Mrs. Galento. "What on earth are they, Tony?"

"Well, it's like this," Tony explained, scratching his head in his bewilderment. "I got a hundred bucks for fighting to-night, but afterwards a lot of guys come to my dressing-room and say to me like this—'We de ducks twenty-five bucks for expenses, and we de ducks fifteen for licences, and then we de ducks another ten for dressing-room arrangements.'"

"In fact," says Tony, producing a fifty-dollar bill, "by the time de ducks are finished I am left with only half my dough, and Flynn and Frain have to get their cut!"

The sports writers, attracted by Galento's colourful personality, gave him plenty of publicity.

They christened him "Terrible Tony" and the "Orange Nightstick" because of the ferocious fashion in which he had clubbed out Farmer, and pretty soon offers were coming in from all parts of the State.

But before he fought again Galento made his first switch in managers when Flynn, who was going to California, turned his plump pug over to Harry Kinney, manager of several promising boys.

Having won his second fight, stopping a big lumberjack named Nick Fadil in two rounds, Tony began to run a little wild.

He cut training and concentrated on developing his capacity for beer, holding forth to admiring audiences in neighbouring taverns.

He climbed into the ring for his third professional fight against an unknown, Heinie Summers, full of hot dogs and lager beer.

Unluckily for the Orange Fat Boy, Summers turned out to be a "ringer" who, under his real name as Johnny Alberts, had run up a good record around Pennsylvania.

Alberts was too fast and clever for him and won an easy decision. It was in this fight that Tony went down for the first and only time in his career.

Swinging a wild haymaker at the elusive Alberts, he missed by a foot, lost his balance, and fell flat on his face!

He was next matched against James Jay Lawless in Harrison, a labouring district of New Jersey, where the burly, red-headed Irishman was a favourite with the fans, and it was on the night of this fight that Harry Kinney gave Galento the famous "Two-Ton" Tony nickname by which he is now known all over the world.

Contrary to what most people imagine, it had nothing to do with his elephantine proportions.

Kinney had arranged to meet Tony at the club where the fight was being staged, but when he arrived the dressing-room was empty. A quarter of an hour before the men were due in the ring there was still no sign of Galento.

By this time Kinney had exhausted all the telephone numbers he could think of to ring and inquire whether they had seen his fat fighter, and he was looking out of the dressing-room window in despair when he suddenly gave an exclamation of astonishment.

Parking His Ice Truck

Down below, still in his working clothes, Galento was calmly parking his ice truck among the customers' shining automobiles.

"Where the hell have you been?" yelled Kinney. "Don't you know you're supposed to be fighting to-night?"

"Take it easy," Galento bawled back at him. "I had two tons of ice to deliver on my way here. I'll be right up."

"Two tons of ice!" Kinney exclaimed. "You've got some nerve delivering ice when you should be in the ring!"

And from that night he has been known as "Two-Ton" Tony.

Lawless was a tough customer, a husky, unscrupulous street corner type of slugger who would have been more at home as an all-in wrestler.

What he knew of ringcraft or the finer points of the game you could write on one thumb nail with room to spare! But as a master of rough-house tactics he had few equals, and he was about as inensible to pain or punishment as a gorilla.

Ferocity and Brute Strength

With his supporters yelling all kinds of blood-thirsty encouragement the fiery-headed Irishman opened up with a ferocious, two-fisted attack that was 99 per cent. brute strength.

This was right up Tony's alley! Calmly disregarding the savage blows that rained on his head and body, he stood his ground, gleefully, swooping punch for punch.

In a couple of minutes the fight had become a wild brawl with both men butting, holding and slugging away like demons.

The crowd, standing on their seats with excitement, loved it; but the referee, after vainly trying to restore some sort of order in the ring, stopped the melee and declared it "No contest."

Then, while the infuriated audience clamoured to see more, he made his escape.

Tony was as disappointed as the customers.

"Imagine dat monkey trying to get tough with me," he said. "I'd have moldered him!"

So that's what's worrying you—your age! Well, I'm far more worried about your health! You must see a doctor about this tiredness of yours

AT THE DOCTOR'S:

I admit I'm scared, doctor. This tiredness is ruining my work, I even wake tired

Come, come, Mr. Price, it's not your age that makes you tired. No, your trouble is Night Starvation

You see, all night long your heart and lungs go on using up energy. The heart has to beat 35,000 times, the lungs make 20,000 muscular movements during 8 hours' sleep. If energy is not replaced during sleep, no wonder you wake tired, feel not up to your work all day. You need Horlicks for that. Start tonight...

DOCTORS AND SCIENTISTS USE HORLICKS IN HOSPITAL TESTS

THESE tests were made in a great hospital on men and women who complained of always feeling tired.

It was found that these people had an excess of acid waste products in their blood during sleep.

This acid waste kept the brain and nerve centres 'on edge' all night even though the rest of the body was sound asleep.

But when Horlicks was given to these men and women last thing at night, this excess acid waste was completely neutralised. They woke refreshed, with greatly increased energy and vitality. Start taking Horlicks tonight. Prices from 2/-, at all chemists and grocers. Mixers 6d. and 1/-.

'MOTHERS' DAY for the Refugee Children

AN APPEAL TO THE WOMEN OF BRITAIN

SAVE another thousand children (500 Christian and 500 Jewish) on 'Mothers' Day.' This is the day appointed for a great and special effort in support of the Lord Baldwin Fund for Refugees.

THERE are nearly 70,000 children in Germany—Christians as well as Jews—imploping you to rescue them from their unspeakable degradation and misery. In the land that gave them birth they are afraid even to show themselves in the streets. Their own mothers are ready to part with them for ever if only they can be got out before it is too late. Will you help to mother them, to bring them over here and train them for a while until they can be sent to a land of settlement overseas?

Do your very best on 'Mothers' Day' to make your local contribution a bumper one. The world has never heard a more piteous appeal than the cry of these children.

Save 1,000 children on 'MOTHERS' DAY' and let them smile and play again!

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

Unless 2 pints of bile juice flow from your liver into your bowels every day, your movements get hard and constipated and your food decays unnaturally in your 20 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over your body every six minutes. It makes you gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything.

Your friends smell this decay coming out of your mouth and call it bad breath. Laxatives and mouth washes help a little, but you must get at the cause. Take Carters Brand Little Liver Pills. They get those 2 pints of bile flowing freely and then you feel on the "up and up." Ask for Carters Little Liver Pills and get what you ask for, 1/3 and 3/-.

BURNING FEET

1 The natural oils drying out of your skin make your feet feel hot, sore. The skin gets hard. "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly replaces the natural oils, makes feet feel young again.

Hon. Hugh D.
McINTOSH

A SHEET of blue notepaper lies before me, the edges torn and dog-eared from much handling. Time has faded the scrawling, pencilled contents, and here and there a word is missing; but I can still read most of it and memory fills in the gaps.

I vividly recall the evening that note came to me, and I slit the blue envelope to read, "Dear Hughie, I am so sorry..." and there at the bottom of the page the straggling signature, "Nellie."

Nellie Mitchell—daughter of a Scots settler who landed in Australia with a single golden sovereign in his pocket, and who died leaving a fortune of half a million.

Nellie Mitchell—whose golden voice thrilled kings and princes and the common people. Nellie—who sang her way into a million hearts, who sent the haunting refrain of "Home Sweet Home" echoing around the world. Nellie, the Queen of Song! Nellie Melba!

Melba and I were friends for 25 years. She died in 1931, but, as I read this faded note, the years roll back and it seems only yesterday that she was giving those wonderful parties at Coombe Cottage.

The "Cottage," set in the wooded beauty of the countryside 40 miles from Melbourne, was actually a magnificent mansion.

The walls of every room were hung with autographed portraits and photographs of the reigning royalties and other famous people who had been captivated by the magic of her art.

There must have been hundreds of signed pictures in that amazing collection, many of them bearing graceful tributes to her genius.

At Coombe Cottage, where I was often a guest, you met all the "lions" and artistic personalities of the day. It was here at one of her parties that I made Melba the offer of which this note reminds me.

Generous Gesture

I offered her 1,000 guineas to sing one song, "Home Sweet Home," from the strangest stage on which she had ever stood—the ring at Rushcutters Bay arena where Jack Johnson, flashing his golden smile, had battered stocky Tommy Burns to defeat.

It came about this way. I was running a big charity show at the stadium to raise money for the Soldiers' Fund. I had several attractive heavy-weight fights booked for the programme, but I wanted a star attraction—something that could not fail to pull in the crowd and pack the whole arena.

Then, chatting to Melba at one of her parties, I had my sudden astonishing idea. Melba, standing in the ring, holding a great crowd enthralled, tugging at their heart-strings, singing as only she could sing the melody that brought tears to the eyes—"Home Sweet Home."

I did not stop to think whether a great operatic star, a singer whose fame was world-wide, might feel insulted at being asked to sing from a boxing ring, and I told her what was in my mind.

"Nellie," I said, "I want you to do something for me. I'll pay you a thousand guineas to sing one song."

"That's a lot of money, Hughie," she smiled. "What's the song and when and where?"

"The one you made world-famous," I replied. "Home Sweet Home." I want you to sing it next week at my charity gala, and I want you to sing it from the ring. Will you do that for me?"

Melba did not hesitate. "From a boxing ring, Hughie?" she said. "Why, that's marvellous. Of course I will. And when you write that cheque don't make it out to me. Give it to the Soldiers' Fund. I don't want a penny."

That generous gesture was characteristic of Nellie Melba. She was a great-hearted woman, ever ready to give her money, her time or her talent in the cause of charity.

For wounded soldiers, for orphans, for hospitals and for the poor she worked and sang whenever she was able. She raised more than £100,000 for Australian soldiers during the war in addition to the thousands she gave away herself.

"I am glad you want me to sing that particular song," she went on. "because it is associated with one of my happiest memories and the greatest compliment ever paid to me."

Strong Personality

Then she went on to tell me how some years before she had been in Cairo and been invited to dine with Lord Kitchener and a number of other distinguished folk. After dinner she was pressed to sing, and when she asked to be excused because she was not feeling well, Kitchener begged her to sing "Home Sweet Home" for him.

"I have been an exile for so long now," he explained.

And so Melba sang, and as the last note died Kitchener crossed the room in silence, bowed and kissed her hand.

"He did not say a word," Melba told me. "but I could see that his cheeks were wet with tears. It was the most wonderful compliment I ever received."

She was as enthusiastic as I was about the idea of singing from the ring at my boxing tournament, but the fates were against us.

Two days before the show I had this note from her. She had caught cold and could not appear.

"I was looking forward to it so much, Hughie," she wrote. "Please tell them how sorry I am."

Nellie Melba was a woman of extraordinarily dominating personality. There was a masculine strength to her character and she always struck me as having a man's brain. I am certain that even without her wonderful voice she would have made her name famous in some other sphere.

Once when I asked her how she began singing she told me that she could not remember the time when she was not.

"I think I must have been born humming a tune, Hughie," she used to say.

I shall never forget the introduction she gave me to a very well-known young peer who was her guest at Coombe Cottage.

We were strolling in the grounds when we came to an empty well over which a young man was bending intent upon his task of whitewashing the interior brickwork.

As we approached he stood up and it became apparent that he was getting far more whitewash on himself than the walls of the well. Liberally splashed from head to feet, he grinned as we approached, and to my amazement Melba said: "Hughie, I want you to meet Lord..."

Later she told me that the young aristocrat had been enjoying her hospitality so long that he had insisted on doing some work on the estate to pay for his keep!

Gifts from Royalty

One of the most amusing stories of Melba I remember is one she thoroughly enjoyed telling, although it was against herself.

Travelling by train from Melbourne to Sydney at the height of her fame she was horrified to find a bed-bug in her sleeping berth.

She wrote a most indignant letter to the railroad company, and would, no doubt, have been quite satisfied with the humbly worded apology that reached her a few days later—but for an unfortunate accident.

Still pinned to the company's letter was a typed memorandum from one department to another: "Send her the usual bug letter."

Melba made her first public appearance at the age of six, when with tightly curled hair and stiffly starched frock she piped her way nervously through two songs at a church concert.

No one guessed the fame that would one day be hers; and, indeed, she once

DURING an amazing life in which he has made and lost several big fortunes, the Hon. Hugh D. McIntosh, famous fight promoter, newspaper proprietor and theatre magnate, has numbered among his closest friends some of the world's greatest artists. And here he tells of a strange offer he once made to Dame Melba when, at the height of her fame, he asked her to sing from a boxing ring—and she accepted.

told me that her father, a stern and devout Presbyterian, looked upon the career she chose as a direct road to eternal damnation.

It was one of her greatest sorrows that he stubbornly refused to attend her concerts even when her name was ringing round the world.

In the days before dictators strutted on the European stage Melba sang before every monarch—the Kaiser, the Tsar, the Emperor Francis Joseph, all of them.

Once, when singing at Buckingham Palace, she was called to one side by King Alfonso, who had been in the audience.

"Why are we neglected?" he asked.

"Because I have never been invited," Melba replied.

"Come as my guest," offered the King, and so she added Madrid to her list of conquests.

Melba died worth a quarter of a million pounds. Her fortune included magnificent jewels valued at £14,000, many of which had been gifts from kings and queens and princes.

Only a few weeks before her death in February, 1931, the world lost another artistic genius whom I also counted among my friends, that dark and graceful beauty of the ballet—Anna Pavlova.

No two women could have been more strikingly contrasted than these—Melba, dominating, self-assured, admitting no rivals, and Pavlova, modest, retiring, utterly without conceit.

Dancing was her whole life. She worked at least 15 hours every day, allowing herself seven or eight hours' sleep and one hour's leisure.

Poetry of Motion

One unforgettable memory I have of Pavlova, her dark eyes bright in the pale oval of her face, her raven hair flying wildly as she spun and pirouetted with fairy grace in the drawing-room of Broome Park.

She was staying there as my guest, and one evening after dinner she began to dance to the tinkling accompaniment of a single piano. But music did not matter when Pavlova danced. You forgot everything but the poetry of motion she so exquisitely interpreted.

For more than an hour she held us entranced. Then, as an odd anticlimax, we pushed back the rugs and began to fox-trot to the music of the gramophone.

Pavlova was my partner, and I soon discovered that, despite all her skill and grace in ballet, she was still a hopeless ballroom dancer.

For a few moments we stumbled awkwardly round the room while my small niece eyed us critically. Then she began laughing and exclaimed in a loud, clear voice: "Look, Mummie. Auntie Anna can't dance at all!"

Pavlova stopped and began laughing. "Pavlova, Hughie," she exclaimed. "Out of the babe I am discovered!"

I often visited the dancer when she made her home at Ivy House, Hampstead, where Turner, the artist, lived. In the grounds there she kept as pets beautiful pink-plumaged flamingos, gorgeous peacocks and a number of ferocious swans given to her by admirers.

No one else dare approach these swans without risking a severe pecking or hammering from their powerful wings, but Pavlova seemed to have some uncanny influence over them.

But then I know from experience that Pavlova, for all her frail air of timidity, was no coward.

I happened to be in Cairo at the time of the serious unrest and riots after the war, when she was billed to appear at the local theatre.

On the day of her arrival the terrorists hurled a bomb right outside the railway station, and the theatre management were so concerned for Pavlova's safety that they offered to cancel the performance.

She refused, however, to consider such a suggestion. We were both staying at the same hotel, and sitting in the lounge we could plainly hear the sound of firing and the angry cries of the rioters, but Anna remained unperturbed.

"It is nothing," she said when I tried to persuade her not to venture out to the theatre. "Never yet have I disappointed my public."

And so that night she drove through the streets with an armed escort, and she danced as superbly as ever while the crackle of gunfire echoed and re-echoed through the theatre.

For years a Martyr to INDIGESTION

Now he cannot stop singing the praises of CICFA!

"My husband has been a martyr to indigestion for years. He purchased a large bottle of CICFA and found great benefit and has since had another large bottle. He now feels so much better than he has done for years that he cannot stop singing their praises, and is anxious for all his friends and relations to try CICFA."

(Mrs.)

It is not a bit of use taking medicines simply to ease the pain of indigestion, because you are only allowing the cause of the trouble to become more deeply rooted. To conquer indigestion you must rebuild a sound digestion. Take CICFA. No matter how long you have suffered the pains of indigestion, CICFA will bring you complete and lasting relief. In a few days you will notice the difference. In a few weeks you won't believe you ever had indigestion.

Conquer INDIGESTION

by rebuilding a sound Digestion with CICFA

You take a CICFA tablet before meals. This is because you take CICFA not only to relieve the consequences of indigestion, but also to reinforce your natural digestive powers throughout the whole length of your digestive tract. Thus CICFA relieves the strain that has weakened your digestive organs and enables them to recover their natural vigour. CICFA conquers indigestion by rebuilding a sound digestion.

Start to-day to rebuild a sound digestion the CICFA way! Before long you will find you can eat what you like, without discomfort and without the aid of medicine.

SMILES IN THE MORNING. Of course they're smiling — it's Kellogg's for breakfast and everybody loves them. "My whole family wouldn't be satisfied with any other breakfast," says Mrs. Hall of Preston, seen here serving her husband. "They like the crisp freshness and flavour of Kellogg's. I like Kellogg's too — they save cooking and there's no messy saucepan to wash-up."

Eleven Years After—Murder Drama Reopens EFFORT TO CLEAR THREE MEN DARTMOOR HERO'S FREEDOM HOPE

EXCLUSIVE TO "THE PEOPLE"

WHILE AWAITING HIS EARLY RELEASE FROM MAIDSTONE JAIL, A FORTY-THREE-YEARS-OLD PRISONER, WHO ONCE STOOD ON THE THRESHOLD OF THE SCAFFOLD, IS PRAYING THAT THE CAMPAIGN OF A BRIGHTON CHIMNEY-SWEEP WILL PROVE HIS INNOCENCE.

He is George Thomas Donovan, who was the hero of the Dartmoor Mutiny in 1932. At the risk of his own life, he saved Colonel Turner, the Prison Commissioner, from attack by the rioters.

Because of his bravery, he had his sentence reduced considerably and is due to be released this summer.

On gaining his freedom, Donovan will join forces with the chimney-sweep, Mr. Harry Cowley, of Grove-st., Brighton, in a demand that a sensational murder case should be reopened.

For 11 years Mr. Cowley has been striving to establish the innocence not only of Donovan, but also of two other prisoners—Percival Leonard Taylor and James Weaver.

All three prisoners were sentenced to death in 1928 for the murder of Mr. Friend Ernest Smith, retired Brighton chemist.

Their seventh-hour reprieve was one of the most dramatic episodes in criminal annals. The executioners had arrived; the scaffolds had been tested.

But at the last moment Sir William Joynton-Hicks, who was then Home Secretary, granted a reprieve because "he felt just that element of doubt in this case which makes it undesirable that the irrevocable penalty should be invoked."

By interviews and correspondence with the prisoners, Mr. Cowley has been preparing a challenging dossier which he intends to submit to the Home Secretary. "I will bring the matter to a head at the appropriate moment," he told me. "There remains a great deal to be done, but many of the difficulties I first encountered are now being overcome."

"All my spare time is being devoted to efforts to rectify what I am sure was an error of justice."

PRISONERS' LETTERS

Mr. Cowley has had letters from all three prisoners. Donovan writes:

"I have every intention of straightening this thing out as soon as I am free. I have learned lots of amazing things concerning the case since I have been inside. It only remains now for the remainder of my sentence to finish."

An extract from one of Weaver's letters is:

"I hope and trust it will not be much longer. Surely I have suffered long enough! Need I say I had nothing to do with this crime? Some day, my friend, we may be able to prove my innocence. "I DO NOT SEEK COMPENSATION OR THE LIMELIGHT. WHAT I WANT IS TO ESTABLISH MY INNOCENCE. IT MEANS A LOT TO ME IF ONLY MY NAME IS CLEARED."

Relative-ly, This Seems a Sound Idea!

JACK LA RUE, FAMOUS FILM "STAR," HAS JUST REVEALED HOW HE SOLVED THE PROBLEM OF HELPING HIS RELATIVES, WHEN HE "GOT INTO THE MONEY."

"I started to work things out," he explained. "Most of my relatives are of Italian descent. Some were good cooks and others looked like fine head-waiters."

"I bought some land in Hollywood, built a restaurant on it, and I gave all the relatives jobs in it. They've been doing fine."

"They have a good business and support themselves. I can drop in any time and eat, and they chalk 't up on the slate, and then rub it out."

"And the land I bought is now worth three times what I paid for it, so everybody's happy!" —B.U.P.

Because He Made Statement— UNDERGRADUATE MUST BE TRIED

WHEN MR. J. H. BRODRICK, THE CLERKENWELL MAGISTRATE, YESTERDAY COMMITTED NIALL MACDERMOT, AGED TWENTY-TWO, AN UNDERGRADUATE, FOR TRIAL ON A CHARGE OF UNLAWFULLY KILLING CHRISTOPHER JOHN MAYNE, HIS FRIEND, HE SAID:

"In view of the statement made by McDermot, I am bound to send him for trial. I should not have done so had the statement not been made."

Mr. John Maude, defending, said: "If anyone has the terrible misfortune of killing his friend his state of mind can be imagined. It would be improbable that he would put the matter in the best light from his point of view."

It had been stated that, had it not been for the condition of Mayne's heart, blows received by him during the course of a political discussion at a flat in Bloomsbury would not have caused his death.

WOMAN WITNESS

Giving evidence yesterday, Mrs. Louisa Grace Hughes, who was present at the flat, said:

"Macdermot was explaining his ideas to Mayne, who did not respond very much. Macdermot grew impatient and thumped Mayne on the chest. He struck him again and Mayne suddenly collapsed."

She saw only two blows struck. There was nothing which could be described as bad temper.

Macdermot, who pleaded not guilty and said he did not mean to do Mayne any harm, was allowed bail on his mother's surety of £50.

Costly Sleep

MOTORIST WAS "MOST HARMLESS"

A MOTORIST, ADMITTED TO BE "ABOUT THE MOST HARMLESS CREATURE IN ENGLAND," WAS FOUND ASLEEP AT THE DRIVING SEAT OF HIS CAR OUTSIDE HIS GARAGE.

One of the car doors was open. The engine was stopped and cold. But the policeman who found him and the divisional surgeon at Paddington thought he was unfit, through drink, to have charge of a car.

This was the story told at Marylebone yesterday when the motorist, Eric Norman Dawson, aged forty, of Craven-ter, Hyde Park, was accused of being under the influence of drink while in charge of his car.

Magistrate Mr. L. R. Dunne said: "If ever a case of this kind can be said to be trivial in its nature, this is one."

He commented on the "most unfortunate set of circumstances" which led to the motorist's arrest. Technically an offence had been committed, but justice would be done by dismissing the charge on payment of £1 16s. 5d. costs.

DUKE OF WINDSOR

SEES VERDUN FORTS

Verdun, France, Saturday. The Duke of Windsor asked to see the plan of the great battle for Verdun, and had it explained to him when he and the Duchess visited the War Museum here to-day.

He took a keen interest in the details of the old front line against which the German armies battered in vain during the Great War.

This morning the Duke and Duchess visited the Town Hall and the Cathedral, and in the afternoon they saw the forts of Vaux and Douaumont, which were the scenes of very heavy fighting during the war, and signed Verdun's Golden Book, which was signed by the present King when he was Duke of York.—Reuter.

GIELGUD TO PLAY HAMLET IN DENMARK

John Gielgud is to play "Hamlet" at Elsinore, Denmark, the actual scene of Shakespeare's tragedy, with Fay Compton as Ophelia.

This is one of his ambitions, and, to fulfil it, John Gielgud will leave the cast of "Dear Octopus" at the Queen's Theatre on June 24.

As a prelude to the Elsinore season, which opens on July 6, Mr. Gielgud and Miss Compton may appear in a special production of "Hamlet" at the Lyceum Theatre.

Inquiry Demanded

DEATHS OF 20 CHILDREN IN HOSPITAL

AN inquiry by the Minister of Health is recommended by the L.C.C. Hospitals Committee into statements affecting the administration of St. Charles's Hospital, Kensington, and the deaths of 20 children.

The Committee say these statements, which involve grave charges against the Council's hospital administration, were made at a meeting of the L.C.C. on February 28.

Matters needing inquiry, according to the Committee, are:—

"Certain statements reported in the Press and said to have been made by Mr. R. C. D. Jenkins in the Council Chamber. Other matters referred to in the letter dated March 29 from Mr. Jenkins and the documents accompanying it, and answers given by the Chairman of the Hospitals Committee to questions put by Mr. Jenkins on February 28 and March 7 in connection with the deaths of 20 children at St. Charles's Hospital."

Two Minutes With The Great

Morgan—Man o' Millions

SOME men amass riches by sheer hard work, others are just born to them.

But even if old Mr. J. S. Morgan, the great American banker, hadn't left his son, Pierpont, a cool £2,000,000, it is highly likely that the genius for money-spinning possessed by this wizard of the stock markets would still have earned him a place in the "Millionaires' Kingdom."

For by his clever business brain and his zeal for work, Pierpont Morgan so enhanced the value of the banking concern which he inherited that his fortune became one of the biggest of the world has ever known.

Once, many years ago, Mr. Morgan, spending a quiet holiday in his beloved Dinan, in Normandy, went to a local photographer and asked him to develop some pictures he had taken of the town's beauty spots.

The photographer, a thrifty peasant, unaware of his customer's identity, thought it would be wise to ask his banker if he knew anything of a gentleman named Morgan. "Is he an American?" the bank manager asked. "Well, he speaks with an American accent," replied the shopkeeper. "His other name is a funny one—Pierpont."

"Ah, so that's the gentleman," exclaimed the banker. "Well, yes, we know him."

"Shall I then be safe in trusting him for three hundred francs?" queried the anxious Frenchman.

"My friend," said the bank manager, with a knowing smile, "if Mr. Pierpont Morgan asked you to lend him all the money you've got in the world, you'd make no mistake in giving it to him. You can trust him for anything and everything he takes it into his head to demand."

A little later, the American called and asked that he might have some dozens of prints of his pictures.

"Oh, by the way," he said genially, "you don't know much about me. I'm a stranger in these parts. I'd better leave you a deposit."

And, taking from his wallet an enormous roll of notes, he placed a thousand-franc note upon the counter!

Within the next few days Portugal will be brought within the group of peace-loving Powers which will be arrayed against the Rome-Berlin axis in the event of war. One condition is that Britain will manufacture enough planes for Portugal to enable that country to defend itself against Franco Spain.

SCARED at the way their best Gestapo agents are being expelled from Britain, the German Government has given orders that as many as possible of those still here are to be given nominal diplomatic posts, so that they can enjoy immunity.

Field-Marshal Goering is alarmed at the enormous number of accidents in the German Air Force. One hundred planes are crashing every month, and every officer and airman has now been warned that he will be severely punished if he is found smoking or drinking during his hours of duty.

Hitler has ordered Nazi activity to be intensified in Silesia, the southern portion of Denmark. Ultimately he will demand a plebiscite for the return of the territory to Germany.

In the meantime, Germans from the Reich are being sent to live in districts where the Nazis are in a minority. Special agricultural credits are being provided for them.

ANGRY at the way General Franco is trying to run Spain as though it were his own country, Hitler has asked the Spanish leader to go to Berlin for discussions. There Franco will be introduced to a German who is to go back to Burgos with him as his "Adjutant." It will be this Adjutant's duty to see that the reconstruction and reorganisation of Spain is carried out on lines that suit Germany's strategic and commercial interests.

Bela Kuhn, who was Communist Dictator of Hungary just after the war, but was overthrown by Admiral Horthy, is believed to have reached London.

Mussolini, alarmed by the weakness of Italian A.R.P., is urging a policy of peace on Hitler. He realises that he could not prevent British aircraft from smashing all his most important towns. Civilian weaknesses and his soldiers are angry at the thought that their families would be left unprotected if they went away to war.

THE Chancellor of the Exchequer will announce in Parliament this week that new measures are being taken to check armament profiteering. Extra staffs of cost accountants are being set to work to examine all contract costs and prices, especially in those aircraft factories which are turning out three times as many planes as they were six months ago.

British and other foreign diplomats in Berlin have reported to their Foreign Offices that Herr von Ribbentrop is the most war-minded man in Hitler's entourage. Whenever they go to him with messages to Hitler containing proposals for the peace-

CAMPAIGN TO HAVE WEDDING BANS LIFTED

SPECIAL TO "THE PEOPLE"

A WIDESPREAD ATTEMPT IS TO BE MADE TO SECURE ABOLITION OF THE BANS ON MARRIAGE WHICH EXIST IN SEVERAL OCCUPATIONS, FOLLOWING THE GOVERNMENT'S NEW CONCESSIONS IN THE CASES OF SOLDIERS, SAILORS AND AIRMEN.

Mr. Chamberlain has announced that all classes of men in the fighting services, who hitherto have had to wait until they are twenty-six to have their right to marry recognised, are now to be allowed to marry at twenty, with the right to draw marriage allowances.

This decision represents a concession to Colonel Harry Day, M.P., and the other Members of Parliament who have been clamouring for such a reform for the last six months.

BANK CLERKS' CLAIM

Now that it has been won, various groups of interested M.P.s are proposing to secure its extension to other classes of the community.

Their argument is that it is contrary to good public policy to impose bans on marriage for young people, especially as the Government, at the same time, is clamouring for an increase in the birth rate.

The first step in the new campaign was taken on Friday when a deputation of Scottish bank officials waited on the Minister of Labour and urged him to free them from their ban.

Next move will be made at the annual meeting of the Civil Service Clerical Association, to be held at Clacton-on-

Sea this week. Many of the young women delegates at that conference—Whitehall typists, tax officials and other civil servants—will demand that they should be allowed to marry while remaining in their jobs.

The third step will be on behalf of policemen, for the Police Federation is urging the Home Secretary to remove the irksome restrictions which prevent young police officers from marrying until they have reached a certain age or completed a certain number of years of service. The ages vary from force to force.

Organisations in the nursing profession are also preparing to put forward a similar demand. They argue that one of the reasons why insufficient numbers of girls enter the nursing profession is because they know that they will have to dismiss all thoughts of marriage from their minds unless they are prepared to sacrifice their profession.

THEN THE JUDGES SMILED!

WOMAN: "THE BIGGEST INSULT I EVER GOT FROM MY HUSBAND WAS WHEN I TOLD HIM THAT ALL I WANTED WAS HIS CARE AND PROTECTION, AND HE ASKED ME IF I PREFERRED IT IN A REGISTERED LETTER OR A POSTAL ORDER."

Wife: "I dare not ask my husband to do anything. When I left him at home to play with the children while I did some shopping, I got back to find the children had learned four card tricks."

Solicitor: "If your husband promises to support you, will you go back to him?"

Woman: "No, I can't afford it."

Wife: "I deny telling anyone that my husband is ill-bred. I've always said that he may be a brute, but he is also a gentleman."

Solicitor: "You should know how to answer a simple question. Have you never been cross-examined before?"

Man: "No, sir. I'm a bachelor."

Counsel: "I suggest you were afraid to face your wife."

Husband: "That's not true. The only time I'm afraid of her is when she is behind me."

Husband: "I have every intention of returning to my wife. I am, simply waiting for the new bus route."

VISCOUNT AND DUSTMAN JOIN UP

"Duke's son, cook's son," wrote Kipling of patriotic volunteers during the Boer War.

And now it is revealed that two volunteers for the Territorials, following each other into the temporary recruiting office opened at Worthing Old Town Hall last week, were young Viscount Dangan, eldest son of Earl Cowley, and a Corporation employee named Reginald William Hills, who is employed as a dustman.

STAN CULLIS SIGNS ON FOR BRITAIN!

During the interval of the Wolverhampton Wanderers v. Sunderland game at Molineux ground, Wolverhampton, yesterday, Lord Dartmouth, who is in charge of Territorial recruiting for the Wolverhampton area, made a recruiting appeal.

After the match he attested Stanley Cullis, the Wolves captain, for the "Terriers."

Militia Pay

BOB-A-DAY IS NOT ENOUGH

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT

AN ALL-PARTY ATTEMPT TO PERSUADE THE GOVERNMENT TO INCREASE THE SHILLING-A-DAY PAY WHICH MILITIAMEN ARE TO RECEIVE UNDER THE MILITARY TRAINING BILL IS TO BE MADE IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS THIS WEEK.

Better allowances for wives and children and stricter guarantees that the youths will have their jobs back will also be demanded.

The second reading of the Bill will be taken in the House of Commons to-morrow night, and the Labour Party will hand in a long list of amendments.

The Party's attitude—and that of many other M.P.s—will be that if the Bill goes through the scheme must be as fair and equitable as possible.

Mr. Attlee, leader of the Opposition, will demand that:

PAY SHOULD BE TWO SHILLINGS A DAY. He will point out that regular soldiers get at least 2s. a day. A shilling a day will give the young soldier little chance of keeping himself in cigarettes and paying for outings and amusements.

BETTER ALLOWANCES will be urged for wives. Under the Bill they will get only 17s. a week, and many will have to go to the poor law authorities for relief.

CHILDREN'S ALLOWANCES will also be criticised. The amount suggested in the Bill is 6s. for the first child, 5s. for the second, 2s. for the third, and 1s. for each subsequent child.

JOBS.—Tightening up of the regulations under which militiamen are to get their jobs back will be demanded.

The Trade Unions are to have a special conference in London towards the end of the month.

It will be made clear that although the unions, like the Labour Party, are opposed to the principle of compulsory service, they will not sabotage it once it is law.

But the unions will oppose any attempt to introduce industrial conscription in the event of war.

CATHEDRAL'S

"SILENT" SERVICE

From Our Own Correspondent
Canterbury, Saturday.
Psalms and hymns were "sung" and prayers offered in silence in Canterbury Cathedral to-night at a special service for the deaf and dumb.

The lesson, read by the Archdeacon of Canterbury, and the Blessing, given by the Bishop of Dover, were the only parts of the service to be interpreted.

The service was held on the eve of the Festival of St. John of Beverley, the first recorded teacher of the deaf and dumb.

MAGNETIC HANDS OF LADY CLERK

Paris, Saturday.

LADY CLERK, wife of Sir George Clerk, the former British Ambassador to France, is devoting much of her time to the science of magnetic healing with her hands at a hospital in Paris, according to the "Soir."

This newspaper says that she has been successful in treating 500 patients, mostly those suffering from skin illnesses or eye afflictions. Children have been her chief patients.

"FLUID POWER"

"For years, I felt this fluid power in my hands," she told the newspaper.

"At first, I experimented upon acquaintances, then in hospitals, under medical supervision, in Czechoslovakia, and, later, in Paris."

She explained that she could not claim to have cured all cases, but many invalids and their relatives had acknowledged the efficacy of the method.—B.U.P.

THREAT TO U.S. PUBLIC SERVICES

New York, Saturday.

THE biggest coal strike in U.S. history, involving half-a-million men, is already threatening the country's public services.

Eloquent pleas by the Government conciliator have kept a semblance of negotiation going between miners and owners, but 340,000 men in the Appalachian soft-coal industry, who are demanding a 2s. a day increase, are already on strike. Men are steadily walking out in other regions.

Two of the major underground lines in New York have curtailed their service owing to the prospect of a fuel shortage.

Big consumers are considering importing Welsh coal. Four shipsloads, totalling 20,000 tons, are reported to be on their way from Britain. In the U.S. coal strike in 1922, which lasted from April to August, more than 5,000,000 tons of British coal were imported, compared with a normal 1,200,000 tons.

The Appalachian miners demand an additional 2s. a day, bringing their daily wage to 28s. 2d., a 30-hour week, a guarantee of 200 working days a year, and two weeks holiday with pay. They maintain that owing to short time a miner's weekly wage averages less than £4.

They also demand a closed shop, with all men organised in the United Mine Workers, affiliated to the Congress of Industrial Organisation. John L. Lewis is head of both bodies.

This would "freeze out" the Progressive Mine Workers of America, affiliated to the older and more conservative American Federation of Labour.—B.U.P.

"Oi" Is The King's Escort

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT

Weymouth, Saturday.

SHORTLY before H.M.S. Express sailed for Portland to-day with the Home Fleet to escort the King and Queen down the Channel, a kitten named "Oi" was taken on board "just for luck."

This ended a keen search by the ship's company for a suitable mascot, and the crew gave a sigh of relief.

"Oi" was lucky, too, though he doesn't know it.

MASCOT PURRS HAPPILY

The royal visit to Canada has saved his lives all nine of them, because he was found straying a fortnight ago and the Weymouth police were about to conform to the regulations by "putting him to sleep."

This morning, however, a Petty Officer's steward walked into the police station and told of his desperate search for a mascot.

So "Oi," purring contentedly, went to Portland in his arms.

A cat can look at a King, they say, and, when Express passed the Empress of Australia, "Oi" was sitting regally on the bridge.

Nun Heroines Cut Off From The World For Forty Years

M.P.s To Champion— BRITAIN'S UNDERPAID SPORTSMEN

SPECIAL TO "THE PEOPLE"

AN ATTEMPT IS SHORTLY TO BE MADE BY A GROUP OF M.P.s TO GET FAIR PLAY FOR PROFESSIONAL SPORTSMEN. THEY HOPE TO SECURE:

Bigger pay for footballers, cricketers and jockeys;

Legalisation of boxing, so as to enable trade union conditions to be applied to boxers.

Worst exploited of all professional sportsmen at present are Britain's 4,000 boxers. It is claimed. Sweated conditions, poor pay and unfair contracts are the lot of hundreds of "pugs."

M.P.s TO HELP HIM

Now they have found champions. Tall, fair-headed Harry Flower, secretary of the National Union of Boxers, has persuaded M.P.s to prepare a Bill making boxing legal.

Ancient statutes make it a punishable offence to attend a public fight. Strictly speaking, anybody who watches a boxing-match can be fined.

Not till the position is cleared up will boxers be able to organise and secure the wages and conditions of other industries.

"Not one boxer in 500 can ever save money for the day when fighting times are over," said Mr. Flower yesterday.

"For a fight of six rounds a boxer will often get less than £1. Out of this he has to pay gymnasium fees, tips to his seconds, commission to his manager, and fares and meet living expenses.

"So-called managers who organise the fights on a commercial basis," he went on, "and 'farm' them out for matches, regardless of their physical condition, ought to be branded as criminals."

Some, biggest money moment in sport, means poor money for the men who draw the crowds. Only the "star" players can hope to get £8 a week.

PITIFUL POSITION

Third Division teams are often in a pitiful plight, players getting only £4 a week during the winter and £2 in the summer.

Last week 14 members of Derby County's team petitioned the directors not to cut their wages to £4 a week.

Cricketer is just as bad.

For less than five months in the year a first-class player gets about £12 a week, but in the winter he may have to struggle along on a £2-a-week retainer.

Horse-racing means money only for the top-rank jockeys like Gordon Richards, who earns £15,000 a year.

The ordinary jockey has to rely on his £5 for a win and £3 for a losing race.

Golf pros, on many of the smaller courses live on £2 a week.

Gave Up Luxury For Lepers

SPECIAL TO "THE PEOPLE"

AS A SUBLIME ILLUSTRATION OF UNSELFISH DEVOTION TO SUFFERING HUMANITY IT WOULD BE HARD TO EQUAL THE CASE OF THREE FRENCH NUNS WHO HAVE JUST COMPLETED FORTY YEARS OF SERVICE IN THE LEPERS' LONELY ISLAND HOSPITAL IN THE DEVIL'S ISLE REGION OF FRENCH GUIANA.

The isle is one of the most uninhabited places on earth. There is only the leper hospital, with its 30 patients, a chaplain and doctors. The nearest towns are penal settlements about three miles away and difficult to reach by road or water.

The silence of the night is only broken by the cries of the patients.

Yet, for forty years, these three devoted sisters, members of the Order of Saint Joseph of Cluny, which was formed ninety-four years ago for this task, have been content even happy, in a living death, doing everything possible to alleviate the sufferings of the lepers.

To Sister Bernard, the Mother Superior, falls the task of acting as midwife when births take place in the community, and then begins a struggle to snatch the little ones from the dread malady that has attacked their parents.

The other two are Sister Martellien and Sister Claire.

There are no limits to the daily hours they may work, save that they are entitled to one free day in seven. However, restrictions on hours and days are forgotten if the needs of the thirty patients make extra calls on the services of the little staff.

There are no luxuries. Life is one of the simple tasks, and, apparently, the outside world forgets to send little comforts that would make life easier for these heroines. Their rate of pay is fixed at ninepence a day.

All three abandoned lives of luxury to enrol in their Order, knowing that, sooner or later, the call for service overseas in some form or another would come to them.

PLEASE, MR. MOTORIST!

HERE'S a new way with Herring motorists—and it comes from Wolverhampton, first town to introduce traffic lights.

If a motorist leaves his car too long in the main streets. Instead of having his name taken or being gruffly ordered to move on, the policeman hands him a card on the front of which is printed:

"This vehicle is causing obstruction. Kindly remove it to a parking place and lessen the possibility of accidents and facilitate the movement of traffic."

Illustrated on the back of the card is a map of the town and this shows the situation of the nearest parking place.

WHEN HOMING PIGEONS MAY BE SHOT

From Our Own Correspondent

Woking, Saturday.

A CASE of interest to pigeon fanciers and farmers was heard at Woking to-day when a summons against The Yallop, Dunsborough Cottage, Ripley, Surrey, alleging that he wilfully killed a homing pigeon, was dismissed.

Evidence was given by two men who saw Yallop fire at the pigeons, two of which were killed.

The witnesses said that there was no mistaking that they were tame pigeons.

Mr. Edward Evans, of Dunsborough Park Farm, Ripley, farm manager, said the pigeons were a pest, and he gave Yallop orders to shoot them, as they were destroying a pea crop.

On behalf of the defence, Mr. C. F. Shummonds submitted that where pigeons were shot in protection of crops there was no offence within the meaning of the Act.

ANSWER TO CORRESPONDENT

MRS. H.P.—Regret there is nothing we can do to help in the matter.

It's A Sure Winner!

BUT THIS RACE "CERT" WON'T DO YOU ANY GOOD

SPECIAL TO "THE PEOPLE"

JOCKEYS, TRAINERS AND "BOOKIES" WILL ATTEND HURST PARK RACE-TRACK TO-DAY TO WITNESS THE SECOND GRAND NATIONAL TO BE RUN THIS YEAR. AFTER A THRILLING DUEL, HAPPY EVENT WILL WIN BY A HEAD.

But, though Happy Event is the surest "cert" that ever faced the starting tape, neither "bookies" nor punters will gain a penny from its success.

For Happy Event is the "star" of a film about the Grand National which is being produced with the aid of Britain's most prominent racing men.

The film is the result of a suggestion made by two jockeys who have both ridden in the Grand National.

They are Frank Furlong and Fulke Walwyn, who, on successive occasions, were mounted on Reynolds-tour.

Chatting with film producer Leon Hepner at a party, they said: "Millions of people are interested in racing. Why not make a film about the Grand National and show them exactly what goes on behind the scenes?"

Stanley Wootton, the well-known trainer, has acted as technical adviser, and punters will be given the "low-down" on the training of a Grand National winner.

Training and hurdling at Epsom, try-outs at small meetings and jumping practice in the hunting field, in fact, every detail of the building-up of a great horse will be shown on the screen.

A famous trainer has put up more than £10,000 towards the £25,000 cost of the film, which is being made in colour.

"Shots" secured so far are regarded as a triumph for British films, because never before has a colour film been made in the winter in this country.

The "star," Happy Event, is probably the most contented member of the cast. He comes from an Epsom stable and his pay has been an extra full nose-bag.

Freely Mary Wood, from London, is not so happy. Although chosen as heroine from thirty candidates, she is tired of working so hard and wants to get married and settle down.

"Getting on the 'set' at an unearthly hour of the morning is not my idea of fun," she says.

Mr. Stanley Wootton

SEEN ON THE SCREEN

By S. ROSSITER SHEPHERD

AFTER all, apart from several hours' entertainment at the time, there is nothing you can take away from a cinema except a memory.

And if it is so happens that the memory of a picture persists long after I have seen it, I cannot help feeling that it must be an exceptionally good film.

In this category I place "Angels with Dirty Faces," now showing at the local. Here is a gangster melodrama with a convincing story powerfully told, with none of the sentimental clap-trap or toughness-for-toughness sake that has characterised some recent gangster efforts.

The theme is the hero worship of a dangerous crook, played with intense and vivid force by James Cagney, on the part of a gang of youngsters, represented by the "Dead End Kids," who see him only as a successful and courageous character.

Pat O'Brien, seen this time as a priest, and as the boyhood friend of the gangster, warns him that he will fight him, and then proceeds to clean up the city's crime ring.

FROM here the story moves forward at high tempo, dynamic and real, with the gangster killing his double-crossing associates and finally himself fighting it out with the police.

The highlights throughout are handled with brilliant restraint and the gangster, by the manner of his death, is shown to have atoned in some measure, at least, for his sins of the past.

CLIMBING HIGH

THIS seems to be a lot of whoopee about very little. Jessie Matthews is seen as a photographic model in an advertising studio who falls in love with a young man she believes to be poor but who is nothing of the sort.

Around this rather thin idea is built what is supposed to be a crazy comedy, which expresses itself chiefly in slapstick with Jessie singing a duet in company with a madman while hanging at a rope's end over an abyss, a communist playing with exquisite droll appeal by Alastair Sim, and Michael Redgrave, who really deserves something better, as the hero.

Still, one way and another, it has its moments with lots of harmless fun.

THE WARE CASE

A HIGHLY polished re-make of a famous silent murder melodrama. Clive Brook as Sir Hubert Ware, a wealthy man outside of murder, is successfully defended by his best friend, who is secretly in love with his wife.

Sally Gray and Lupino Lane in the film version of "The Lambeth Walk," which will be generally released by M.G.-M.

When, after his acquittal, he learns of the true state of affairs, he confesses to the murder and commits suicide in order to leave them free.

FOUR'S A CROWD

A JIG-SAW in love starring Errol Flynn, Rosalind Russell, Olivia de Havilland and Patrick Knowles.

LEGAL drama of woman lawyer who defends her husband, a crooner, when unjustly charged with murder.

LADY LUCK

PATRICIA FAIR in a comedy drama of a girl who thought she had won the Irish Sweep and became involved in a murder mystery.

STRANDED IN PARIS

JACK BENNY, Mary Boland and Joan Bennett in a bright comedy with music, dealing with the adventures of a hard-up theatrical group in Paris.

THE CROOKED WAY

CRIME melodrama of a district attorney who pretends to work in jail with crooks in order to land them in jail.

"No Mercy For Vengeance Seekers"

RAIDERS IN GIRL'S FLAT

After Violent Scene At Dance Hall

SPECIAL TO "THE PEOPLE"

PEOPLE WHO SET OFF ON AN ERRAND OF VENGEANCE AND NOT FINDING THEIR MAN, WRECK A WOMAN'S HOME ARE NOT DESERVING OF ANY MERCY, ACCORDING TO MR. L. R. DUNNE, THE MARYLEBONE MAGISTRATE.

He expressed this opinion during a case yesterday in which it was alleged that, after a dance hall attendant had been beaten up, about a dozen men went to the flat of his girl friend and smashed her furniture.

During the proceedings a pretty, smartly dressed young woman stood sobbing at the rear of the court. The story was told when Michael McAuliffe, twenty, kitchen porter, no fixed home, was charged with maliciously inflicting grievous bodily harm on Edward Wm. Bushel, a dance hall attendant, at the Bamba Social Club, Chapel-st., Marylebone, and with being concerned with three other men in wilfully damaging furniture belonging to Annie Eustace, of Randolph-ave., Maida Vale.

The other three accused were—Francis Bradley (twenty-five), of Sale-place, Paddington; Thomas White (twenty-two), Randolph-avenue, Paddington; and Horace McAuliffe (twenty), waiter, of Westbury-rd., Paddington.

BEATEN AND KICKED

Bushel said he went to stop a fight between two men during a dance at the Bamba Club, when Michael McAuliffe struck him and told him not to interfere. Michael McAuliffe butted him in the face with his head and kicked him, causing him to double up with the pain. Then someone kicked him on the mouth, and Michael McAuliffe kicked him in the eye.

Other blows were rained upon him as another attendant pulled him away to safety and sent for the police. He was taken to hospital.

Detective Liddle said that after the club incident and while Bushel was still at hospital, all four accused and about eight other men went in search of Bushel at the address of a woman friend, Annie Eustace, in Randolph-ave.

They rushed into the young woman's room and smashed up her furniture. The landlady awoke and screamed. All the men ran out.

"TO FINISH THE JOB"

As a result of information that such a raid might be made, the police were near by in a police van and they arrested the four accused.

The magistrate: They went to the flat to find Bushel and finish the job? Detective Liddle: Yes.

The magistrate said it was a serious matter and would have been very much more serious if they had found Bushel. He sentenced Bradley to three months' hard labour for the wilful damage, and remanded the rest of the accused for inquiries.

Psychic Artist

"SPIRITS" GUIDE HIM

SPECIAL TO "THE PEOPLE"

SPIRITUAL INSPIRATION, HE CLAIMS, AIDS A LONDON ARTIST IN CREATING SCENES OF IDYLIC BEAUTY. HE IS FORTY-ONE-YEAR-OLD MR. HAROLD WORKMAN, OF EALING, WHO HAS THREE PAINTINGS AT THE ROYAL ACADEMY FOR THE THIRD SUCCESSIVE YEAR.

Mr. Workman claims that he receives psychic advice from two spirit guides, both artists on earth.

"When I am at a loss for a subject, I sit down in my studio, close my eyes, relax completely," he told me. "It usually happens that I receive a complete clairvoyant vision of the painting I am to work upon. As I work alone in my studio, voices also advise me on colour and points of composition."

"If I am about to apply, say, a red colour, a voice will say: 'Don't use that, try green.'"

Mr. Workman, who is short, spectacled, with a thick mop of dark hair, has had an unusual career as a painter.

A native of Oldham, he obtained a £500-a-year job as a flour salesman in London.

But the urge to paint, which he traces back to his boyhood days, drove him to throw up this secure job ten years ago and devote his whole time to art.

It was a hard struggle until he won recognition, particularly with his vivid paintings of London scenes.

His home town values his work. Oldham Art Gallery has just purchased one of his Academy pictures, this being the third purchase in six months.

"VANISHED IN SMOKE!"

A husband who left a train "for a moment" to have a smoke has been gone 18 years, a wife complained in the divorce court at Hartford, Connecticut. She got her divorce.—Reuter.

HINTS TO INVESTORS

ANOTHER BATCH OF CHEAP SHARES

BRITAIN'S second largest industrial company, Imperial Chemical Industries, with total assets of nearly £100,000,000, holds its twelfth annual meeting at the Queen's Hall, London, next Thursday.

Total capital reserves and carry-forward amount to more than £90,000,000 and last year's net earnings were just over £7,000,000.

The latest report, reveals a big advance in cash, from £21,694,000 to £25,000,000. This company is just beginning to reap the benefit of a drastic internal management reorganisation and if the trade revival develops into real prosperity it expects the position to improve.

I.C.I., as it is familiarly known, is the hand-maiden of practically every other industry. It supplies most of the raw materials used by others.

Its main groups of manufacture include alkali, dyestuffs, explosives, fertiliser and synthetic products, chemicals, leather, cloth, lime, metals, paint and lacquer, plastics and salts.

In detail these groups range from such diverse articles as zip fasteners to oil from coal.

Earnings on the £50,000,000 of ordinary capital last year amounted to 11.5 p.c., and a dividend of 8 p.c. was paid.

Since the company's inception huge sums have been placed to depreciation and obsolescence and eventually higher dividends should become available.

At 30s., the £1 ordinary shares yield 5½ p.c. and it would not surprise one if they did better this year.

The company last year earned 14½ p.c. on its reduced capital of £75,124 and paid 100 p.c. The 1s. shares, of 10s. 11d., yield over 5 p.c.

This remarkable company has a reserve fund of £20,000,000, a cash balance of £25,000,000, together with other assets, the amount of the issued capital.

LORD MCGOWAN, Chairman of Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd.

Carlton Main Colliery Company has just announced a dividend of 10 p.c., compared with 6½ p.c. The £1 ordinary shares are only 20s., and this year a full 10 p.c. dividend has risen from 2 p.c. in 1932.

Dividend of Pease and Partners a similar company, is due at any time. This company paid 10 p.c. last year out of earnings of 24 p.c.

Do not expect less than 10 p.c. this year. The 10s. ordinary shares look attractive.

When the company was paying 5 p.c. in 1937 the shares touched 10s. 9d. A £100,000 consolidated balance-sheet revealed assets equal to 30s. per share on a break-up.

There are also some option certificates outstanding, which give the purchaser the right to apply for ordinary shares at a price of 10 p.c. to the year-end. The price of these option certificates is about 1s. 4d.

Attention might also be paid to Partridge, Jones and John Parson, a South Wales colliery undertaking which paid 6½ p.c. tax free for the year to March, 1938.

JUMPED AT 60 M.P.H.
Because the train in which he was travelling from Riga failed to stop at his destination, Captain Adolf Linins jumped from it while it was moving at 60 miles per hour.

Now he is in hospital, severely injured.—Reuter.

ALL THE BETTER FOR BRITAIN!

A BOOM in British schools is resulting from disturbed conditions on the Continent.

Hardly any girls are being sent this term to Germany, Austria and Italy. And education of foreign children has been almost an industry in those countries.

Even the famous finishing schools of Switzerland are now less popular than those of this country.

Girls are coming to Britain from the Baltic states, France, America and even Japan.

"BLACKPOOL-ON-THAMES"

From Our Own Correspondent

Southern, Saturday. VISITORS TO SOUTHWEND AND THE NEAR-BY ESSEX COAST HAVE BEEN SURPRISED, ON LOOKING ACROSS THE FORMERLY DERELICT SHORE ON THE OPPOSITE SIDE, TO SEE A GREAT MOUNTAIN RISING FROM THE BEACH WITHIN THE LAST FEW WEEKS.

This is the framework of a great new mountain railway which is being built at All Hallows-on-Sea by William Wilson, the showman.

All Hallows-on-Sea has been in existence for over three thousand years (it was already important in pre-Roman times), but no one seems to have heard of it until now, when a group of enterprising showmen have decided to build a great amusement centre there.

It is claimed that All Hallows-on-Sea will eventually become a second Blackpool. A model garden city will shortly be started; meanwhile the beach already attracts thousands of trippers every week-end.

DOES ordinary shampooing leave you "looking a fright" with your hair all over the place? Then you simply must try Special Drene for Dry Hair! Even the most difficult, unruly hair becomes perfectly easy to manage and simple to set right after your very first shampoo with Special Drene.

But that's not all! Just one shampoo with Special Drene will make even the dulllest hair shine and sparkle with a natural beauty you never knew was there. You will be delighted with the new glamorous highlights that Special Drene will reveal in your hair.

OLD-FASHIONED WAY
Hair dull, covered with cloudy film

THE DRENE WAY
Dull film gone, hair soft and shining

THERE ARE NOW TWO KINDS OF DRENE SHAMPOO—CHOOSE YOURS

1. REGULAR DRENE for normal hair

2. SPECIAL DRENE for dry hair

If your hair is normal—use Regular Drene. If it is dry, finely-spun, difficult—use Special Drene. Even women with the most unruly hair can now enjoy the thrill of Drene beauty because Special Drene leaves dry hair as silky and easy to manage as Regular Drene leaves normal hair. That's why thousands of hairdressers throughout the country use and recommend both kinds of Drene.

DRENE IS SIMPLE—SPEEDY—SAFE

A few drops of golden Drene give a foaming billowy lather five times greater than ordinary shampoos. No messy mixing beforehand—no special "after-rinses." Drene leaves your hair with a brilliant new lustre because Drene cannot deposit the lime and soap film left by ordinary washing. Medical evidence states that Drene is as mild and safe as soft water. Most amazing—embarrassing flakes of dandruff disappear after just one Drene Shampoo.

BE SMART—SAVE MONEY TOO WHEN YOU BUY DRENE SHAMPOO.

No matter how you buy Drene you save money because you need so little Drene for each shampoo. In the 6d size bottle you get two or three shampoos. In the 1/6 size a dozen or more. But take this economy tip, the big 2/6 size contains at least twenty-four copious shampoos. It's the modern economy way to keep every head of hair in the family clean and healthy, looking at its best. You simply must try Drene.

Get Drene from Chemists, Hairdressers and Department Stores. Boots, Timothy Whites & Taylors, Woolworths.

Elasto

REGISTERED The Wonder Tablet

Take it—and Stop Limping!

EVERY sufferer should test this wonderful new Biomedical remedy which brings quick relief from pain and weariness and creates within the system a new health force; overcoming sluggish unhealthy conditions, increasing vitality and arousing to full activity the inherent healing powers of the body. No ailment resulting from poor or sluggish circulation of the blood can resist the curative action of Elasto. Varicose veins are restored to a healthy condition, the heart becomes steady, the arteries supple, skin troubles clear up, leg wounds heal naturally and the cure is lasting, pleases vanish and rheumatism, in all its forms, is literally swept out of the system. This is not magic, although the relief does seem magical; it is the natural result of revitalised blood and improved circulation brought about by Elasto, the tiny tablet with wonderful healing powers.

Everybody is Asking—What Is Elasto?

This question is fully answered in an interesting Booklet, which explains in simple language this amazing new method of curing through the blood. Your copy is Free, together with a generous Free Sample, see coupon below. Suffice it to say here that Elasto is not a drug but a vital cell-food which must be present in the blood to ensure complete health. It restores to the blood the vital elements which combine with the blood albumin to form organic elastic tissue and thus enables Nature to restore elasticity to the broken-down and devitalised fabric of veins, arteries and heart, and so to re-establish normal healthy circulation without which there can be no true healing! The health of every organ and tissue of the body depends upon healthy cellular activity, and to ensure this, vigorously circulating, oxygen-rich blood is absolutely essential. NINE TIMES OUT OF TEN THE REAL TROUBLE IS BAD CIRCULATION.

Read What Users of Elasto Say:

- "Varicose veins quickly cured after 12 years of useless bandaging!"
- "My Thrombosis has gone, my legs are better and there is less swelling."
- "Elasto has healed my bad leg."
- "Cured my sciatica 12 months ago; still quite fit."
- "I was suffering from mitral disease and dare not exert myself in any way, but now, thanks to Elasto, my heart is quite sound again."
- "Completely cured my varicose ulcers."
- "The swelling from ankles to thighs has entirely gone, and I can do a full day's work, keeping on my legs all day."
- "Elasto has quite cured my eczema."
- "My piles are gone, my legs are better and I feel fitter in my general health."
- "Cured my rheumatism and neuritis."
- "After being indoors for 18 months I can now walk quite well. My heart is stronger and all the pain has left my legs."
- "My doctor marvelled at my quick recovery from phlebitis."
- Etc., Etc.

THESE extracts are taken from letters received from grateful people who KNOW, who have tested and proved for themselves the extraordinary health-restoring powers of ELASTO, the wonderful new Biomedical Remedy. We guarantee the authenticity of every extract quoted.

Do you judge a drink
by its appearance?

Yes—but still more by its disappearance!

There's many a true word spoken in jest! Take a Guinness. Hold it up to a strong light. See how its dark inviting depths glow with a ruby light. See how the creamy head dips into a smile. It's a very cheerful sight.
Judged by appearance alone it's a most attractive drink.

Now make it disappear. Ah! that's a Guinness right enough. That's the real, authentic, one-and-only Guinness flavour.
Clean and invigorating. A taste that

Each entry received will be carefully considered and the First Prize-winner will be the competitor who on one Entry-form has completed the puzzle and has given what is the best set of Answers to the Clues provided. The set of Answers will constitute the winning puzzle-square. The First Prize-winner will receive a furnished Seaside Bungalow, anywhere in British Isles, with car and garage, all to the value of £750 and £750 cash. Alternatively, if preferred, the first prize-winner can have £1,500 cash. If at any points in the puzzle where a choice of words exists the Adjudication Committee decides that no one word submitted can be preferred on the test of aptness and accuracy then competitors using three words of equal merit will be regarded as having tied. Indicated when RESULT AND WINNING PUZZLE-SQUARE appear on SUNDAY, MAY 14, 1939, extracted from the puzzle of the competition with a new set of answers as directed on Page Two. Should any competitor not announced as a winner believe that he entered a coupon eligible for a share of the First Prize £1,500 cash and £750 cash, the competitor can win more than one prize or share of a prize in any one Competition. Acceptance of the findings of the Adjudication Committee in regard to the most meritorious answers to the puzzle is a condition on which entries are accepted, and it is hereby binding on all entrants for this Crossword Competition. Employees of "The People" and its Associated Companies and members of their families are not eligible to compete.

STUEFFEL UNITED TOTTEHAM AT CHELSEA GAME PROMOTION

Long Acre Tells You About— A FACTION WHICH RELEGATES NORWICH

AND that, my friends, is that. All the football problems and puzzles have been solved, and we need not worry about our pools for another three months. Yes, three months. All too short, isn't it? That's why everybody is already talking about next season. Why? The football season has to be so long I don't know. We started war back in mid-August, and there were times when it looked as if the season was never coming to an end. Now I see they again reckon to start in mid-August! If ever anybody starts a campaign to reduce each division of the League to 19 teams and the consequences of that, I'll be the first to second the motion.

AS was anticipated, Sheffield United slipped the Wednesday as Blackburn's partners in the Second Division promotion stakes. United actually only needed a point, but they got two by heavily flogging Tottenham. United just missed the boat last season. United scored straight from the kick-off and eventually scored three in five minutes through Hampson, Hagan and Henson. No wonder United laughed Ha, Ha, He. Hope that's not too subtle, but it's very difficult to be bright on the day of footers' last fling.

POOR old Norwich. They just couldn't make it. They beat Nottingham Forest, but they weren't enough. Norwich needed at least a four-goal margin to make themselves safe. Norwich go down because they have scored one-twentieth of a goal less than the Forest. Show me how important one missed penalty can be. However, Norwich have some consolation, for they will have a couple of real rip-roaring "Derby" games next season with Ipswich.

WALSALL, another of the season's unfortunates, wound up in a blaze of glory. They scored six against Cardiff, bringing their aggregate up to 16 for their last three home games. Portsmouth, the Cup winners, showed the trophy to the Deddington crowd, but "Pompey" could not celebrate the occasion with a win. Arsenal secured their first First Division win over Brentford, but the "Bees" justly disputed the "Gunners' first goal.

WEST HAM fielded Burton and Hubbard, for whom they paid £9,000. Against Manchester City, they scored first but West Ham eventually won, Hubbard scoring a goal.

The 3-1 victory of Coventry at Luton apparently upset some of the crowd, for at the conclusion of the game a number of supporters came to blows and spectators surged over the ground.

The referee at Stockport blew for time four minutes early, but after consulting a linesman when the crowd demonstrated, he restarted the game.

The Southport team had to hustle a bit for their game at York. The Southport crowd broke down just outside Harrogate and the team had to go in another, in which they changed. The game started several minutes late. Everton already established a lead, but they were not to be troubled. Bolton, runners-up, Wolves, could not win at home against Sunderland. Halifax beat Salford in the Rugby League Cup final at Wembley, but apart from that I'm afraid there's nothing more to say. I'm tired of all this football, anyway!
